Francis Clergeaud

Head of the Total Quality Management Unit at DG Interpretation and Conferences of the European Parliament.

Francis Clergeaud started his career in 1993 with Deloitte (an international audit and consulting firm) where he worked for 8 years, both in France and in the United States (he spent 2 years in Chicago). In 2001, he joined the European Commission in the External Relations Directorate General where he became later Head of the Audit Unit. DG RELEX was then merged into the newly created European External Action Service where he continued to be in charge of the Internal Audit activity. He joined the European Parliament at DG Interpretation and Conferences in November 2011.

He is a graduate from a French Business School. He is also a “Certified Internal Auditor" and a “Certified Government Auditing Professional”.