The impact of influencers on advertising and consumer protection in the Single Market

Dear Reader,

We are living in a digital world in which influencer marketing has appeared as one of the defining new characteristics of online commerce. It mixes roles of advertisers and reviewers, often without clear information about the nature of the relationship between the influencer and the companies whose products/brands he or she is promoting. Currently no legislation applies to influencers comprehensively.

That is exactly why IMCO commissioned a study, which focuses on defining influencers and their impact on consumers and on the single market. The analysis provides arguments on whether this phenomenon should be regulated further in consumer protection legislation or in the Digital Services Act, which my Committee will debate on in the coming weeks.

Anna Cavazzini

Chair of the Internal Market and Consumer Protection (IMCO) Committee

The impact of influencers in the Single Market

Policy Department for Economic, Scientific and Quality of Life Policies

Influencer marketing as part of the advertising industry has grown significantly in recent years, becoming one of the most popular and effective forms of online advertising.

The study requested by IMCO provides insight into the fast-growing market of influencers, which comes with potential risks for consumers and creates several challenges for regulators. It analises the impact of influencers on advertising and consumer protection, including best practices and recommendations for future action.

The Commission 2021 Rule of Law Report

Policy Department for Citizens' Rights and Constitutional Affairs

Rule of law backsliding represents a major, existential challenge for the EU. This study offers a comprehensive and critical assessment of the European Commission's Annual Rule of Law Report. It does so in a broad and holistic manner by assessing this new monitoring tool in light of the EU's Article 2 TEU monitoring and enforcement architecture. Recommendations are made to remedy gaps and weaknesses.

The EP's response to the COVID19 crisis: budgetary impact

Policy Department for Budgetary Affairs

The COVID-19 pandemic has impacted the execution of the EP's budget due to the nature of the crisis and its global effects. Many budgetary transfers during 2020 are directly related to the institution's COVID-19 response, in particular as regards investments in ICT infrastructure. This briefing describes various transfers relevant to the EP's response to the crisis and its impact on the functioning of the EP and on its 2020 budget.

Turkey's foreign policy and its consequences for the EU

Policy Department for External Relations

EU-Turkey relations have reached an impasse on a number of fronts. The causes of this stalemate are complex, with both institutional and historical roots. This paper, requested by the AFET Committee, explores the impasse and prospects for the future. The authors explore Turkeys' recent foreign policy principles, presidential system and links with the US, as well as three Mediterranean hotspots. Policy recommendations for European decision-makers are also detailed.
