This measure supports policy cooperation and structured dialogue between young people and their organisations and those responsible for youth policy. The activities include, in particular, promoting cooperation and the exchange of ideas and good practices in the field of youth, conferences organised by the Presidencies of the Union, supporting youth seminars which encourage and promote the involvement of young people in Europe as a political, social and cultural community and other measures to exploit and disseminate the results of the projects and the results of the European Union's activities in the field of youth.
