69a. Rejects macroeconomic conditionality, particularly (but not only) as regards the structural and investment funds and the Cohesion Fund, and the link between EU budget funding and economic governance and national reform plans under the European Semester; rejects the priority given to financial instruments and investment in public-private partnerships; considers that the future MFF should instead promote increased public investment, supporting productive and strategic sectors and their modernisation and sustainability, focusing on creating jobs with rights, tackling poverty, social exclusion and inequalities, championing environmental protection and safeguarding the entire resources of every country and region;
