Paragraph 38

38. Highlights the fact that EFSA’s latest report on pesticide residues in food showed that 97.2 % of samples throughout Europe were within the legal limits under the EU legislation, which bears witness to an extremely rigorous and safe food production system; notes, however, that in 2015 EFSA also found that for certain pesticides the number of determinations of maximum residue levels (MRLs) reported was significantly below the number needed to derive statistically sound conclusions;
