checks against relevant databases on EU citizens who are crossing the EU’s external borders, in addition to the systematic checks already being carried out on all third-country nationals entering the Schengen area. However, it has proven necessary to use targeted checks in place of systematic checks at a number of external border crossing points, on account of the disproportionate impact of systematic checks on the flow of cross-border traffic.\(^1\)

Recital 8 a (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

(8a) The Commission has also issued Recommendation (EU) 2017/1804\(^1\) to Member States to make better use of police checks and cross-border cooperation in order to limit the impact on free movement and to remedy the threat to public policy or internal security. Despite different measures put in place, a number of Member States continue to maintain unlawful internal border control, undermining the basic principle of the Schengen Area.

Text proposed by the Commission

(9) Financial support from the Union budget is indispensable to the implementation of European integrated border management to support Member States in managing the crossing of the external borders efficiently and in addressing migratory challenges and potential future threats at those borders, thereby contributing to addressing serious crime with a cross-border dimension while acting in full respect of fundamental rights.

Amendment

(9) Financial support from the Union budget is indispensable for the implementation of European integrated border management to support Member States in managing the crossing of the external borders efficiently and in addressing future challenges at those borders, thereby contributing to addressing serious crime with a cross-border dimension while acting in full respect of fundamental rights.

Amendment 12
Proposal for a regulation
Recital 11

Text proposed by the Commission

(11) As customs authorities of the Member States have been taking up an increasing number of responsibilities which often extend to the field of security and take place at the external border, ensuring uniformity in carrying out border control and customs control at the external borders needs to be addressed by providing adequate Union financial support to the Member States. This will not only strengthen customs controls but also facilitate legitimate trade, contributing to a secure and efficient customs union.

Amendment

(11) As customs authorities of the Member States have been taking up an increasing number of responsibilities which often extend to the field of security and take place at the external border, it is important to foster inter-agency cooperation, including information sharing through existing information exchange tools, as a component of the European integrated border management approach, as referred to in Article 4(e) of Regulation (EU) 2016/1624.

Complementarity in carrying out border control and customs control at the external borders needs to be ensured by providing adequate Union financial support to the Member States. This will not only strengthen customs controls in order both to combat all forms of trafficking, not least goods trafficking at borders, and terrorism, but will also facilitate legitimate trade and travel, and contribute to a secure and efficient customs union.

Amendment

(21) The instrument should complement and reinforce the activities implementing European integrated border management in line with shared responsibility and solidarity between the Member States and the European Border and Coast Guard Agency representing the two pillars of the European Border and Coast Guard. This means, in particular that, when drawing up their national programmes, Member States should take into account the analytical operational and technical guidelines developed by the European Border and Coast Guard Agency as well as the training curricula developed by it, such as the common core curricula for the training of border guards, including its components with regard to fundamental rights and access to international protection. In order to develop complementarity between its mission and the responsibilities of the Member States for the control of the external borders as well as to ensure consistency and to avoid cost inefficiency, the Commission should consult the European Border and Coast Guard Agency on the draft national programmes submitted by the Member States in as far as it falls within the Agency’s competencies, in particular on the activities financed under operating support. The Commission should also ensure that eu-LISA, the European Union Agency for Fundamental Rights and any other relevant Union agency or body, are associated with the process of developing Member States’ national programmes at an early stage, in so far as it falls within the agencies’ competencies.

Proposal for a regulation
Recital 22

Text proposed by the Commission

(22) The instrument should support the implementation of the hotspot approach as outlined in the Commission’s Communication on A European Agenda on Migration and endorsed by the European Council of 25 and 26 June 2015\(^{39}\). The hotspot approach provides operational support to Member States affected by disproportionate migratory pressure at the Union’s external borders. It offers integrated, comprehensive and targeted assistance in a spirit of solidarity and tools, operational and technical guidelines developed by the European Border and Coast Guard Agency as well as the training curricula developed by it, such as the common core curricula for the training of border guards, including its components with regard to fundamental rights and access to international protection. In order to develop complementarity between its tasks and the responsibilities of the Member States for the control of the external borders, and to ensure consistency and avoid cost inefficiency, the Commission should consult the European Border and Coast Guard Agency on the draft national programmes submitted by the Member States in as far as they fall within the Agency’s competencies, in particular on the activities financed under operating support. The Commission should also ensure that eu-LISA, the European Union Agency for Fundamental Rights and any other relevant Union agency or body, are associated with the process of developing Member States’ national programmes at an early stage, in so far as it falls within the agencies’ competencies.

Amendment

(22) In so far as the affected Member States so request, the instrument should support the implementation of the hotspot approach as outlined in the Commission’s Communication on A European Agenda on Migration and endorsed by the European Council of 25 and 26 June 2015. The hotspot approach provides operational support to Member States faced with an emergency situation. It offers integrated, comprehensive and targeted assistance in a spirit of solidarity and shared

Text proposed by the Commission

(23) In the interest of solidarity in the Schengen area as a whole and in the spirit of shared responsibility for the protection of the Union’s external borders, where weaknesses or risks are identified, in particular following a Schengen evaluation in accordance with Council Regulation (EU) No 1053/2013\(^{31}\), the Member State concerned should adequately address the matter by using resources under its programme to implement recommendations adopted pursuant to that Regulation and in line with vulnerability assessments carried out by the European Border and Coast Guard Agency in accordance with Article 13 of Regulation (EU) 2016/1624.

Amendment

(23) In the interest of solidarity in the Schengen area and throughout the Union and in the spirit of shared responsibility for the protection of the Union’s external borders, where weaknesses or risks are identified, in particular following a Schengen evaluation in accordance with Council Regulation (EU) No 1053/2013\(^{31}\), the Member State concerned should adequately address the matter by using resources under its programme to implement recommendations adopted pursuant to that Regulation and in line with vulnerability assessments carried out by the European Border and Coast Guard Agency in accordance with Article 13 of Regulation (EU) 2016/1624.

(24) The instrument should express solidarity and shared responsibility through financial assistance for those Member States that fully apply the Schengen provisions on external borders and visas as well as those which are preparing for full participation in Schengen, and should be used by the Member States in the interests of the Union’s common policy for the management of the external borders.

Text proposed by the Commission

(26) To contribute to the achievement of the policy objective of the instrument, Member States should ensure that their programmes address the specific objectives of the instrument, that the priorities chosen are in line with the agreed EU priorities and the implementing measures as set out in Annex II and that the allocation of resources between objectives and actions is proportionate to the challenges and needs they are faced with.

Amendment

(26) To contribute to the achievement of the policy objective of the instrument, Member States should ensure that their programmes address the specific objectives of the instrument, that the priorities chosen are in line with the agreed EU priorities and the implementing measures as set out in Annex II and that the allocation of appropriate resources between objectives and actions is proportionate to the challenges and needs they are faced with. In that regard, it is important to achieve a fair and transparent distribution of resources among the specific objectives of the instrument. Accordingly, it is appropriate to ensure a minimum level of expenditure for the specific objective of supporting the common visa policy whether for measures under direct or indirect management, or for measures under shared management.

Amendment 27

Proposal for a regulation
Recital 31

Text proposed by the Commission

(31) Border surveillance at sea is considered one of the coastguard functions performed in the Union maritime domain. National authorities carrying out coast guard functions are also responsible for a wide range of tasks, which may include, but would not be limited to, maritime safety, security, search and rescue, border control, fisheries control, customs control, general law enforcement and environmental protection. The broad scope of coastguard functions brings them under the remit of different Union policies which should seek synergies to achieve more effective and efficient results.

Amendment 28

Proposal for a regulation
Recital 31 a (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

(31a) When implementing actions funded under the instrument which are related to maritime border surveillance, Member States should pay special attention to their obligations under international maritime law to render assistance to persons in distress. In that regard, equipment and systems supported under the instrument should be used to address search and rescue situations which may arise during a border surveillance operation at sea, thereby contributing to ensuring the protection and saving the lives of migrants.

Amendment 29

Recital 33
(33) To strengthen the complementarity and to reinforce the consistency of maritime activities as well as to avoid duplication of efforts and to alleviate budgetary constraints in an area of costly activities such as the maritime domain, the instrument should support maritime operations of multipurpose character where the main objective is border surveillance but other objectives could additionally be pursued simultaneously.

(33) To strengthen the complementarity and to reinforce the consistency of maritime activities as well as to avoid duplication of efforts and to alleviate budgetary constraints in an area of costly activities such as the maritime domain, the instrument should support maritime operations of multipurpose character where the main objective is border surveillance but other objectives linked to it could additionally be pursued simultaneously, such as combating trafficking in human beings.

(34) Measures in and in relation to third countries supported through the instrument should be implemented in full synergy and coherence with and should complement other actions outside the Union supported through the Union's external financing instruments. In particular, in implementing such actions, full coherence should be sought with the principles and general objectives of the Union’s external action and foreign policy related to the country or region in question. In relation to the external dimension, the instrument should target support to enhance cooperation with third countries and to reinforce key aspects of their border surveillance and border management capabilities in areas of interest to the Union’s migration policy and Union’s security objectives.

(34) The primary purpose of this instrument should be to support integrated border management at the Union’s external borders and to support the common visa policy. However, within defined limits and subject to the appropriate safeguards, certain measures in and in relation to third countries could be supported through the instrument. Those measures should be implemented in full synergy and coherence with and should complement other actions outside the Union supported through the Union's external financing instruments. In particular, in implementing such actions, full coherence should be sought with the principles and general objectives of the Union’s external action and foreign policy related to the country or region in question.

Amendment 32

Recital 35

(35) Funding from the Union budget should concentrate on activities where Union intervention can bring added value as compared to actions by Member States alone. As the Union is in a better position than Member States to provide a framework for expressing Union solidarity in border control, common visa policy and the management of migration flows, and to provide a platform for the development of common IT systems underpinning those policies, financial support provided under this Regulation will contribute in particular to strengthening national and Union capabilities in those areas.

Justification

Migration issues are funded under a separate instrument.

Amendment 33

Proposal for a regulation
Recital 36

(36) A Member State may be deemed not to be compliant with the relevant Union acquis, including as regards the use of operating support under this instrument, if it has failed to fulfil its obligations under the Treaties in the areas of border management and visa, if there is a clear risk of a serious breach by the Member State of the Union’s values when implementing the acquis on border management and visa or if an evaluation report under the Schengen evaluation and monitoring mechanism has identified deficiencies in the relevant area.

(37) The instrument should reflect the need for increased flexibility and simplification while respecting requirements in terms of predictability, and ensuring a fair and transparent distribution of resources to meet the objectives laid down in this Regulation.

Amendment

(37) The instrument should ensure a fair and transparent distribution of resources to meet the objectives laid down in this Regulation. It should balance the need for predictability in the distribution of funding with the need for its increased flexibility and simplicity. In order to meet the requirements in terms of transparency of funding, the Commission, with the cooperation of the Member States, should publish information on the development of the annual and multiannual programmes under the thematic facility. The implementation of the instrument should be guided by the principles of efficiency, effectiveness and quality of spending. Furthermore, the implementation of the instrument should be as user-friendly as possible.
(38) This Regulation should establish the initial amounts for Member States’ programmes calculated on the basis of criteria laid down in Annex I, which reflect the length and the threat levels at land and sea border sections, the workload at the airports and the consulates as well as the number of consulates.

(39a) The mid-term review should be used to assess the effectiveness and Union added value of programmes, resolve problems that appeared during the first phase, and provide a transparent overview of the implementation.

(40) As challenges in the area of border management and visas are constantly evolving there is a need to adapt the allocation of funding to the changes in migration flows, pressure at the border and security threats and steer funding towards the priorities with the highest added value for the Union. To respond to pressing needs, changes in policy and Union priorities and to steer funding towards actions with a high level of added value for the Union, part of the funding will be periodically allocated to specific actions,
Union actions and emergency assistance, via a thematic facility.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

The establishment of an area without internal borders where persons and goods can circulate freely is one of European Union’s greatest success stories and one of the most tangible achievements to both European citizens as well as businesses. The Schengen area is one of the key means through which European citizens can exercise their freedoms, and the internal market can prosper and develop.

As enshrined in the Treaties, ensuring proper functioning and a high level of security within an area of freedom, security and justice should be achieved, inter alia, through common measures on the crossing of internal borders by persons, on border controls at the Union’s external borders, and on the common visa policy.

The Rapporteur therefore welcomes the proposal for a financial instrument for border management and visas as part of the Integrated Border Management Fund which will act as the successor to the current Internal Security Fund, with a budget of €9.3 billion, representing a five-fold increase. This financial instrument is fundamental, as it translates Union policies for the benefit of all European citizens into concrete actions. It provides financial support for implementing policies, which should be based on solidarity and fair sharing of responsibility between the Member States, as well as mutual trust among themselves.

However, in recent years the evolving challenges facing the European Union have exposed serious flaws in EU policies and have eroded trust among Member States. Despite the strengthening of the external borders by introducing new measures and information technology systems, trust among Member States continues to be eroded and the very principles of solidarity and fair sharing of responsibility continue to be undermined. Persisting internal border controls beyond three years within the Schengen area are only one example of that.

The objective of the Union’s policy in the field of external border management is to develop and implement European integrated border management. However, this has to be done within defined limits and subject to the appropriate safeguards, hand in hand with the free movement of persons within the Union - a fundamental component of an area of freedom, security and justice.

The Rapporteur considers that the objectives of the proposed instrument focus excessively on the security and do not take account of the need to facilitating legitimate travel. The vast majority of people crossing the external borders nowadays are, in fact, legitimate bona fide travellers entering the Union with or without a visa, representing very little to the security of the Union as a whole.

Stemming from the objectives of the Instrument, the Rapporteur considers it important to ensure a fair and transparent distribution of funding between both main objectives of the Fund. With that in mind, the Rapporteur believes more emphasis should be put on more positive actions and measures of integrated border management, such as on visa policy, and not merely on security. It is therefore prudent to ensure a minimum level of funding for the common visa policy.
As regards the amendments to the Commission’s proposal, the Rapporteur believes the Regulation should be strengthened and amended as outlined below:

It is essential that actions and measures funded through the Instrument have due regard for the respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms, which the Rapporteur proposes to significantly strengthen. As information technologies and systems are being put in place at our external border, the need for the respect of fundamental rights of persons as regards their personal data has never been greater and should be improved.

The Rapporteur also considers it extremely important to remind the Member States of their international and EU law obligations in the context of border surveillance and the principle of the prohibition of refoulement. The said principle applies not only on the territory of a State, but also extraterritorially, including on high seas when carrying out search and rescue operations. It is extremely important this aspect be strengthened in the report.

Similarly, in the context of border management, such as in the hotspots areas, the Rapporteur proposes the provisions with regard to the respect for right to international protection as well as for the protection of vulnerable groups, such as children, should also be bettered.

Furthermore, the principle of non-discrimination should be adequately enhanced, in particular when it comes to the treatment of third-country nationals in the context of border management and common visa policy.

Facilitating legitimate travel, also by opening up legal and safe pathways to Europe, will contribute significantly to the decrease of migratory pressure on the Union. In accordance with the European Parliament’s resolution on humanitarian visas in this context of common visa policy, the Rapporteur considers this Instrument should support Member States in issuance of humanitarian visas as well as the Union in the implementation of any future European Humanitarian Visa scheme. The time has come for the Member States and the Union to lead by example and prevent further unnecessary lose of life in the Mediterranean.

In the context of actions addressing the challenges facing the Union, such as migratory pressures, The Rapporteur considers that for the purposes of the initial allocation of funding the number of applications for international protection at the border should be added as a criterion determining the workload at the external border.

As regards funding of actions in or in relation to third countries the Rapporteur considers that such actions should be limited and subject to appropriate safeguards for their implementation. The Union operates several financial instruments dedicated for actions in and for third countries; the EU is also the largest donor of development aid in the world. The Rapporteur considers that European border management has little to do with setting up detention centres in third counties or externalising the management of EU’s borders to those countries.

The Rapporteur similarly proposes to limit the funding for urgent and specific needs in the event of emergencies, which should only be allowed exceptionally and with sufficient safeguards put in place for its use.

For the proper preparation and implementation of actions and measures under both, the work programmes and thematic facility, active participation of the civil society, local and regional authorities is crucial. The Rapporteur proposes to strengthen this aspect of the Regulation as well as the exchange of best practices and experts, including with regard to the protection of fundamental rights in the context of different components of border control.

Budgetary scrutiny is an important competence of the European Parliament as it holds the Member States and Union institutions accountable in the eyes of European citizens. It is therefore crucial that transparency of spending is significantly increased in the Instrument.

Finally, the Rapporteur insists that the European Parliament - in its role as co-legislator - must be given access to adequate information about the use of the Fund for scrutiny. Similarly, the European Parliament should be fully involved in the implementation or any changes to the key elements of the Regulation, notably through a delegated act in the context of work programmes, the actions eligible for higher co-financing, as well as output indicators, the mid-term and retrospective evaluations, and the annual performance reports.

OPINION OF THE COMMITTEE ON FOREIGN AFFAIRS

for the Committee on Civil Liberties, Justice and Home Affairs

on the proposal for a regulation of the European Parliament and of the Council establishing, as part of the Integrated Border Management Fund, the instrument for financial support for border management and visa

Rapporteur for opinion: Eduard Kukan

SHORT JUSTIFICATION

Over recent years, the EU has faced an increasing number of migratory, mobility and security challenges. In order to address these issues, in May 2018 the Commission proposed a substantial increase to the funding allocated to migration and border management for the period 2021 to 2027.

The proposed regulation establishing the instrument for financial support for border management and visa is part of the Integrated Border Management Fund and solely focuses on actions related to checks on persons in the context of border controls.

Overall, the rapporteur supports the proposed regulation, which provides the financial framework for strong and efficient border management while safeguarding the free movement of people. He favours, in particular, the increased financial envelope allocated to this fund, the increasing flexibility to help address evolving challenges more effectively, the focus on quality of the spending as well as the better monitoring and evaluation framework.

He therefore is of the view that the instrument, notably in its external dimension, is adequate and responds to the priorities of the EU. However, particular attention should be drawn to ensuring coherence and to fomenting synergies between this instrument and all other funding in the field of migration and border management, be it through the EU external financing instruments or through other EU instruments and funds with an external dimension, such as the Asylum and Migration Fund.

Recital 27 a (new)
(27 a) Due to the strong linkage of border and visa management with other policy fields, such as the Maritime and Fisheries Fund or the EU Anti-fraud Programme, the Commission should ensure a strongly coordinated approach, possible synergies, and transparency in the respective spending.
