- having regard to the European Parliament resolution of 17 June 2010 on EU policies in favour of human rights defenders and the EP resolution of 18 April 2012 on the Annual Report on Human Rights in the World and the European Union's policy on the matter, including implications for the EU's strategic human rights policy,

- having regard to the Universal Declaration of Human Rights of 1948,

- having regard to Rule 122 of its Rules of Procedure,

A. whereas the American Declaration of the Rights and Duties of Man, declares that one of the principles upon which the OAS is founded is the “fundamental rights of the individual”;

B. whereas on 2 May 2012 President Chavez announced the establishment of a State Committee to evaluate the possibility of withdrawing from the Inter-American Commission on Human Rights (IACHR); whereas on 3 May 2012 Foreign Affairs Minister asked other governments of the region to do the same;

C. whereas from 1970 to 2011 four decisions of the IACHR concerned Venezuela and the Court ruled over 12 cases from 2004 to 2012; whereas the Organisation of American States through the Inter-American Commission of Human rights warned Venezuela several times on violations of freedom of expression, personal security and impunity, and political rights;

D. whereas for the last few years, Venezuela has strongly criticized the Commission and the Court and has threatened many times to withdraw arguing that the Commission is bias and has a double standard; whereas this is the first time Venezuela takes serious steps to do it; whereas since 2002 Venezuela has denied all the petitions from the Commission to visit the country;

E. whereas the IACHR, a highly respected body with a positive impact in the region, has been crucial in obtaining justice for large numbers of victims of human rights violations, and has also played a key role in the transition to democracy from the dictatorships that ruled many countries in the region;

F. whereas the IACHR submits cases to the Inter-American Court, asks Member States of the OAS to adopt "precautionary measures" to prevent irreparable harm of human rights in grave and urgent cases and receives, analyzes and investigates individual petitions alleging violations of human rights;

G. whereas regional human rights bodies play a very important role in the promotion and protection of human rights mechanisms and reinforce universal human rights standards and treaties, something that has been repeatedly recognized by the UN General Assembly and its Human Rights Council, NGOs and human rights defenders;

H. whereas according to Article 1 of its Statute, the Inter-American Court is an autonomous judicial institution whose objective is to apply and interpret the American Convention; whereas its decisions are compulsory for the signatories of the American Convention;

1. Is concerned at Venezuela's announcement that it is establishing a State committee to evaluate the possibility of withdrawing from the Inter-American Commission on Human Rights and calls on the Venezuelan authorities to reconsider this position.
