Justification

*The Commission proposal already contains small-scale partnerships which are very positive. Sometimes organisations also have the ambition and the potential to implement large-scale projects. These projects can run for many years and involve multiple partners across education sectors. Or. de

Justification

*A ‘European University’ pilot project was being launched at the time the legislation was being adopted; preliminary findings from a review of this pilot project should be taken into account before regular funding starts.
