Thierry Cornillet, Louis Michel

Motion for a resolution
Paragraph 6 a (new)

6a. Notes that Commission working documents show that amounts paid are fairly low compared with amounts committed; notes that, despite efforts to simplify them, procedures are still burdensome for stakeholders on the ground; is concerned that this situation (unspent amounts on the one hand, red tape on the other) could, where development assistance is concerned, result in a loss of credibility for the EU in the eyes of our partners, who may sometimes think that the procedures are designed to be burdensome so that the amounts committed will not need to be disbursed; emphasises that there is a major problem where ‘competition’ for development assistance is concerned; calls, therefore, for:

– better communication on funding options, to ensure our partners are informed;

– training on compiling EU files to be provided for local stakeholders, including civil servants, to ensure that they are in the best position to fulfil the criteria and therefore increase their chances of making successful applications for their projects; notes that such training could also be geared towards improving responses to calls for projects from other international organisations;
