DRAFT OPINION

of the Committee on Development for the Committee on International Trade on the draft Council decision on the conclusion, on behalf of the Union, of the Investment Protection Agreement between the European Union and its Member States, of the one part, and the Socialist Republic of Viet Nam, of the other part

(05931/2019 – C9-0020/2019 – 2018/0358(NLE))

Rapporteur for opinion: Tomas Tobé

SHORT JUSTIFICATION

The EU-Vietnam Investment Protection Agreement (IPA) aims to stimulate trade and remove many of the remaining barriers to investment.

The investment chapters within the agreement provide a range of protections for qualifying foreign investors and their investments. These protections include, inter alia, an obligation to provide 'fair and equitable treatment', as well as so-called 'full protection and security', 'national treatment' and 'most favoured nation treatment'.

The creation of a stable and predictable investment climate is important to encourage investment and support job creation in Vietnam. Your rapporteur welcomes the improved provisions of the IPA in comparison to older and outdated provisions in the Bilateral Investment Agreements concluded between some Member States and Vietnam. In particular, greater transparency in proceedings is long overdue and welcome. It is vital that these provisions are respected and reviewed when necessary to ensure all stakeholders have full access to relevant information on ongoing investment protection dispute settlement cases.

Your rapporteur further emphasises that the right of governments to regulate in the public interest, including on health, the environment, labour rights and tax policy, is fully respected and does not constitute de facto expropriation, nor a violation of fair and equitable treatment. The European Parliament has been at the forefront of demands for reforms of the investment protection system and will continue to monitor very closely the impact of IPAs including the proposed agreement with Vietnam, on both the right to regulate and on any potential chilling effect. The Investment Court System included in the Vietnam-EU IPA, including the commitment of both parties to protecting the right to regulate from investor challenges, is a significant step forward but not the end of the reform process.

In this regard, your rapporteur further stresses that investor responsibilities must keep pace with the expansion of investor rights and emphasises the importance of close monitoring of the provisions and effects of the IPA, and comparative progress on establishing investor responsibilities.

With this in mind, your rapporteur recommends to give consent to the agreement.

*****

The Committee on Development calls on the Committee on International Trade, as the committee responsible, to recommend that Parliament give its consent to the proposal for the Investment Protection Agreement between the European Union and its Member States, of the one part, and the Socialist Republic of Viet Nam, of the other part.
