

Question for written answer E-003598/2015
to the Commission

Rule 130

Doru-Claudian Frunzuliță (S&D)

Subject: Situation of migrants from Yemen

The number of asylum seekers and migrants arriving in Yemen is growing every year. Political violence and institutional weakness are causing the state to fragment into smaller entities controlled by armed groups and afflicted by chronic violence.

In this context, what European actions are being taken with a view to empowering the Yemeni Government and civil society so that it can develop an effective policy and framework for migration management?