

Question for written answer E-004295/2015
to the Commission
Rule 130
Doru-Claudian Frunzuliță (S&D)

Subject: Gender equality in access to education

In 2011, according to the Statistical Annex to the 2014 Millennium Development Goals Report, in Sub-Saharan Africa the percentage of females aged 15 to 24 who could read and write was 64 %, compared with 75 % of the male population of the same age.

Is the Commission taking action to address the issue of gender inequality in access to primary education?