Subject: EU urban agenda digital platform

As part of the current efforts to develop the EU urban agenda, and in the light of the recent proposal to share the management and analysis of data on the implementation of urban policy in the Member States, does the Commission intend to consider the possibility of creating of an 'EU urban agenda digital platform', which would be made freely accessible to national and local policy-makers so that they can share, plan, announce and discuss details of joint projects which form part of the urban agenda?
