

Question for written answer E-005255/2015
to the Commission
Rule 130
Doru-Claudian Frunzuliță (S&D)

Subject: Daesh's crimes against humanity

The extermination of eastern Christians by Daesh, also known as the Islamic State of Iraq and Syria, can be regarded as genocide, given the extent of the attacks. Can the Commission tell us what practical steps are being taken to save the lives of eastern Christians?