Subject: The ratio of public sector employees

One of the things considered within the National Reform Programme in Croatia, which includes a reform of public government, is a reduction of the number of public sector employees in order to achieve savings. Since representatives of the Croatian Government are advised about these reforms by representatives of the European Commission, I ask the following questions:

1. Is there an analysis by the European Commission on the number of public sector employees in Member States in relation to the number of their inhabitants?
2. Is there an analysis or information on the number of public sector employees in Member States in relation to the total number of employees?
