

Question for written answer E-006966/2015
to the Council
Rule 130
Siôn Simon (S&D)

Subject: Comprehensive protection against discrimination throughout the EU

EU law currently prohibits discrimination on only some grounds and in only some areas, such as employment.

In 2008 the Commission put forward legislation that would outlaw discrimination in a number of new areas, including in the supply of goods and services. Parliament approved this proposal.

When does the Council plan to proceed to its first reading?
