Subject: VP/HR - Oil exports by Libyan factions

The end of the NATO intervention over Libya in 2011 marked the start of a period of factional fighting for control of the country.

One of the most significant aspects of this fighting relates to the control of oil production and supply. At present there are two export bases: one is the Benghazi area, controlled by the al-Thani Government; the other is Tripoli, exposed to the chaos which reigns in the city.

Is there any EEAS guidance for European businesses working with either side?

Does the High Representative know how much oil is being produced in each area?
