

Question for written answer E-007679/2015
to the Commission
Rule 130
Ivan Jakovčić (ALDE)

Subject: Setting the maximum level of contractual interest rates

Is there an upper limit set by the competent institutions of the EU which would relate to contractual interest rates for citizens and the economy of the Member States?

Does the Commission have information on the approach Member States have taken to limiting the maximum level of contractual interest rates and what ceiling amounts they have set?