Subject: ET 2020

European cooperation in the field of education and training (ET 2020) is a key framework at the European level which helps Member States to modernise their education and training systems, thereby contributing to the overall political priorities set by the Europe 2020 strategy. At a recent meeting of the Education, Youth, Culture and Sports Council of ET 2020 on the subject of European audio-visual policy one of the things the ministers discussed was ways to prevent misuse of the freedom guaranteed by the Directive on audio-visual media services in order to ensure security and stability as objectives of public interest.

What specific measures and regulations does the EU plan to use to stop the abuse of these freedoms including the freedom of information, freedom and pluralism of the media, the openness of the Internet and cultural and linguistic diversity?
