

Question for written answer E-011455/2015
to the Commission
Rule 130
Siôn Simon (S&D)

Subject: How is the European Research Council Executive Agency striving to have a workforce that is representative of EU citizens?

Previously, the Commission has stated that it 'strives to be representative of the increasingly diverse European citizens it serves' (response to Written Questions E-008102/14, E-007850/14 and E-007851/14).

What policies does the European Research Council (ERC) Executive Agency, which comes under the competence of the Commission, have in place to be representative of the increasingly diverse European citizens?

What internal strategies does the ERC Executive Agency have for its workforce to be representative of the increasingly diverse European citizens?

How does the ERC Executive Agency monitor and measure the success of the diversity and representation of EU citizens that it is striving to achieve in its workforce?