

Question for written answer E-013945/2015
to the Commission
Rule 130
Cătălin Sorin Ivan (S&D)

Subject: Aid for Ankara bombings

According to media outlets, the twin bombings in Ankara killed 97 individuals and injured more than 500. Turkish officials have concluded that ISIL is the prime suspect behind the attack.

1. What is the support, be it social, economic, military or intelligence, that the Commission offers in the event of a terrorist attack on states that are allied to the European Union?
2. How is the Commission prepared to aid countries in the European Neighbourhood in order to secure the Union's borders?