

Question for written answer E-003719/2016/rev.1
to the Commission
Rule 130
Dennis de Jong (GUE/NGL)

Subject: Toll collection devices for trucks

In answer to written questions tabled by Mr De Backer (ALDE) concerning the problems relating to toll collection devices for trucks, the Commission replied that it would immediately launch an ex post assessment of the relevant European legislation (Directive 2004/52/EC and Decision 2009/750/EC).

1. Has that assessment now been carried out and, if so, when will the findings be communicated to the European Parliament? If not, when will the assessment be completed? Have truck drivers specifically been involved in this investigation, or will they be?
2. Against which Member States are infringement proceedings currently pending in relation to the aforementioned directive and decision, and how are they going?
3. What measures does the Commission consider to be possible and necessary in order, as quickly as possible, to put an end to the existing situation, in which the dashboards of trucks are full of toll collection devices? What transitional measures might be conceivable?