

Question for written answer E-005480/2016
to the Commission
Rule 130
Enrico Gasbarra (S&D)

Subject: Combating tax evasion and a plan for poverty

In the light of the significant levels of tax evasion and avoidance in the EU, as also demonstrated by the work of Parliament's Special Inquiry Committees, and the European Commission's initial policy statements, can it shed light on the state of play of the proposal for a common European corporation tax?

In this context, does the Commission intend to use the common revenue from this taxation for an extraordinary plan to combat poverty?