

Question for written answer E-006576/2016
to the Commission
Rule 130
Edouard Ferrand (ENF)

Subject: Migration flood

According to the '2016 World Population Data Sheet' report, which was recently presented in Washington by the NGO Population Reference Bureau, the population of Africa is set to double by 2050.

A consequence of this will be an exponential increase in the pressure from illegal migration on Europe.

In view of this dramatic prediction, does the Commission intend to adopt specific measures to prevent, as much as possible, the aforementioned migration flood from occurring?