

Question for written answer E-007479/2016
to the Commission
Rule 130
Renaud Muselier (PPE)

Subject: EU decision-making and the United Kingdom

Does the Commission think it right and proper for the United Kingdom and its representatives in the European Parliament to continue to be involved in decision-making on legislation that will not apply in the UK when the country leaves the European Union?