Question for written answer E-007882/2017
to the Council
Rule 130
José Ignacio Salafranca Sánchez-Neyra (PPE)

Subject: Cyber security

We are currently facing an invisible, global threat from hackers (for instance the virus WannaCry) that, as various European intelligence sources reveal, may be coming from North Korea.

1.   What strategy is the European Union considering pursuing to tackle these new threats, which affect the Member States, companies and EU citizens?

2.   Is there confirmation that North Korea may be behind some of these attacks?