

Question for written answer E-001015/2018
to the Council
Rule 130
Bill Etheridge (EFDD)

Subject: The UK's future involvement with military protection of the European Union

After Brexit, the UK may no longer provide Europe with defence capabilities.

As the UK would be taking a risk with the possibility for financial and military loss if it decided to protect the European Union nation states, is the European Union willing to financially compensate the UK for its military support?