Subject: Promoting more recyclable materials

The Commission adopted a European strategy for plastics in January 2018. This is intended to contribute to a more circular economy.

- 1) What is the Commission doing to promote the consumption of more recyclable materials (as opposed to plastics) by European citizens?
- 2) What is the Commission planning to do to spur investment and innovation in materials other than plastics?
- 3) What specifically does the Commission propose to do to raise the proportion of glass which is collected and to further improve the recyclability of this material?
