

Question for written answer E-002837/2018
to the Commission
Rule 130
Francesc Gambús (PPE)

Subject: Preserving nature reserves through water reuse

Many Mediterranean coastal areas and inland parts of the Iberian Peninsula are under severe water stress. One of the ways in which this can be alleviated is through water reuse, particularly for agricultural purposes.

1. What is the Commission's view on the potential that water reuse has to reduce water stress in Mediterranean river basins?
2. What view does it take on Spain's assessment of its river basin management plans?
3. What is its view on the initial results of the project EBRO-ADMICLIM (ENV/ES/001182)?