  - having regard to Article 294(2) and Article 114 of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union, pursuant to which the Commission submitted the proposal to Parliament (C8-0358/2015),
  - having regard to Article 294(3) of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union,
  - having regard to the reasoned opinions submitted, within the framework of Protocol No 2 on the application of the principles of subsidiarity and proportionality, by the Polish Senate and the Swedish Parliament, asserting that the draft legislative act does not comply with the principle of subsidiarity,

Amendment 1

Draft legislative resolution Paragraph 1

Draft legislative resolution

1. Adopts its position at first reading hereinafter set out;

Amendment

1. Rejects the Commission proposal;

Or. en

Justification

This AM is filed merely to reflect the clear view on behalf of a number of Members that the proposal should be rejected. The Rapporteur does not believe that this is the best approach as there are a number of issues that need to be addressed by the Directive, such as clarifying the status of firearms converted to firing blanks.

Amendment 2

Proposal for a directive Recital 3 a (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

(3a) The definition of the term "firearm" should be clarified and the control of essential components enhanced by including in the definition any device converted to firing blanks which shares an essential component with a firearm. An essential component contained in any such device should be considered capable of being used in a firearm when the essential component can be transferred from that device to the firearm without substantial modification.

Or. en

Justification

The Directive already defines any object with the appearance of a firearm and which is capable of being converted to a firearm as a firearm. It also controls individual essential components. This structure is further strengthened by providing a clear rule that objects containing an essential component are also considered firearms. Recital linked to AM on article 1, paragraph 1, subparagraph 2a.

Amendment 3

Proposal for a directive

Recital 3 b (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

(3b) The definition of the term "firearm" should continue to exclude objects which expel a shot, bullet or projectile by the action of a non-combustible propellant, for example through the operation of compressed air or other gas, including so-called airsoft guns, as well as objects which merely have the appearance of a firearm (replicas, imitations), provided in both cases that such objects cannot be converted to a firearm or do not contain an essential component which is capable of being used in a firearm. Member States should be able to regulate such objects under their national law.

Or. en

Justification

Linked to the deletion of the proposed definition of "replicas" and the clarification of Annex I, III, part b of Directive 91/477.

Amendment 4

Proposal for a directive

Recital 3 c (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

(3c) Essential components should be defined as those components which are necessary for the operation of a firearm. Accessories, such as devices designed or adapted to diminish the sound caused by firing a firearm, should not fall within the definition of an essential component, as the firearm can still be operated without them.

Or. en

Amendment 5

Proposal for a directive Recital 3 d (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

(3d) It should be specified that the activities of a dealer include not only the manufacturing but also the modification or conversion a firearm, such as the shortening of a complete firearm, and in addition the modification or conversion of parts of firearms and of ammunition, and that, therefore, only authorised dealers should be permitted to engage in those activities.

Or. en

Amendment 6

Proposal for a directive Recital 3 e (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

(3e) The armed defence forces of a Member State as defined under national law may, in addition to the military, include units such as a home guard as well as reservists and other persons obliged to take part in armed defence activities.

Or. en

Amendment 7

Proposal for a directive Recital 3 f (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

(3f) Member States should ensure that an effective system is implemented for monitoring possession of firearm. That system, which could be periodic or continuous, should either be based on relevant medical review upon the issuance or renewal of an authorisation, or provide for an effective alternative system of continuous monitoring taking into account the risks concerned, including the nature and quantity of firearms possessed by an individual, applicable requirements for secure storage, the duration of any authorisation, and any relevant indications, for example from medical or other tests, indicating that the conditions for allowing possession may no longer be met. Where a system of continuous monitoring is used, it may inter alia include requirements for the owner to present the firearms held, as well as ammunition, for a check at the request of the supervisory authority, for the owner to submit at any time to a check of continued eligibility for possession, and on-site checks of compliance with safe storage requirements.

Or. en

Justification

Linked to AM 46.

Amendment 8

Proposal for a directive Recital 3 g (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

(3g) Member States should lay down particularly high requirements for secure storage with respect to firearms or ammunition classified in category A. Such requirements could include measures ensuring real-time monitoring, as well as requirements to maintain essential components and ammunition in safe storage separate from the firearms in which they can be used.

Or. en

Justification

Linked to AM 49.

Amendment 9

Proposal for a directive Recital 3 h (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

(3h) As is the case with respect to the system of reporting suspicious transactions under Regulation (EU) No 98/2013 of the European Parliament and of the Council<sup>1a</sup>, a transaction for the acquisition of complete rounds of ammunition, or components of ammunition should be considered suspicious if, for example, it involves quantities uncommon for private use, if the buyer insists on unusual payment methods, including large amounts of cash, or if the buyer appears unfamiliar with the use of the ammunition or is unwilling to provide proof of identity.

<sup>1a</sup> Regulation (EU) No 98/2013 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 15 January 2013 on the marketing and use of explosives precursors (OJ L 39;

Justification

In order to strengthen the control of ammunition, without requiring marking and registration of each individual unit, a system of control of suspicious transactions, already existing in the Regulation on explosives precursors, should be introduced. Linked to AM 55.

Amendment 10

Proposal for a directive
Recital 3 i (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

(3i) The Commission should review Commission Implementing Regulation (EU) 2015/2403<sup>1a</sup> immediately upon the entry into force of this Directive, in order to adapt that Regulation to this Directive, address identified deficiencies in that Regulation and take account of experience gained in the application of that Regulation.

<sup>1a</sup> Commission Implementing Regulation (EU) 2015/2403 of 15 December 2015 establishing common guidelines on deactivation standards and techniques for ensuring that deactivated firearms are rendered irreversibly inoperable (OJ L 333, 19.12.2015 p. 62).

Justification

Linked to AM 59.

Amendment 11

Proposal for a directive
Recital 3 j (new)

(3j) Until such time as it has been determined which prior national standards and procedures for deactivation have resulted in firearms being rendered permanently unfit for use and inoperable, firearms deactivated under those prior standards and procedures should not be transferred to another Member State or otherwise placed on the market unless they have been deactivated pursuant to Implementing Regulation (EU) 2015/2403, and as subsequently amended. Firearms deactivated under such prior national standards and procedures which can be converted into firearms by reason of their construction or material should fall within the definition of firearms under Directive 91/477/EEC, as should any device which contains an essential component which is capable of being used in a firearm. Firearms which have been subject to certified deactivation under prior standards and procedures resulting in them being rendered permanently unfit for use and inoperable should be considered as mere replicas, to which Directive 91/477/EEC does not apply unless they are capable of being converted into firearms.

Or. en

Justification

Unnecessary re-deactivation of firearms which have been subject to certified deactivation under national standards and procedures which were applied prior to Regulation 2015/2403 and which were equally effective as deactivation under that Regulation should be avoided. The approach of identifying and recognising such prior national standards and procedures only affects such deactivations already done, and does not establish a system for deactivation parallel to Regulation 2015/2403. Compare AM 16. Linked to AM 60.

Amendment 12

Proposal for a directive

Recital 3 k (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

(3k) Certain persons have a legitimate interest in accessing firearms classified in category A, provided that exemptions are granted on a strictly limited basis. These could include, inter alia, armourers, proof houses, manufacturers, forensic scientists and, in certain cases, those involved in film production, as well as individuals needing firearms for self-defence purposes.

Or. en

Justification

The current possibility for Member States to grant category A authorisations in special cases and provided it is not contrary to public security or public order should remain, in order to accommodate certain situations where there is a legitimate interest. Member States are not obliged to grant such authorisations. Where they do grant them, it should be on a strictly limited basis. Linked to AM 48.

Amendment 13

Proposal for a directive

Recital 4

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

(4) Bodies concerned with the cultural and historical aspects of weapons and recognised as such by the Member State in whose territory they are established and holding in their possession firearms classified in category A acquired before the date of entry into force of this Directive should be able to keep those firearms in their possession subject to authorisation by the Member State concerned and provided that those

(4) It should be possible for Member States to choose to authorise persons dedicated to the gathering, study and conservation of firearms and associated artefacts for historical, cultural, scientific, technical, educational, aesthetic or heritage purposes and recognised as such by the Member State in whose territory they are established to keep in their possession firearms classified in category A, provided that those persons demonstrate, prior to being granted firearms have been deactivated.

authorisation, that they have taken the necessary measures to address any risks to public security or safety, including by way of secure storage. Any such authorisation should take into account and reflect the specific situation, including the nature of the collection and its purposes.

Or. en

Justification

Authorisations for category A firearms for historical etc. purposes should be limited to reflect the nature of such work. Linked to the AM 49.

Amendment 14

Proposal for a directive

Recital 5

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

(5) Since collectors have been identified as a possible source of traffic of firearms, they should be covered by this Directive.

deleted

Or. en

Amendment 15

Proposal for a directive

Recital 6

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

(6) Since brokers provide services similar to those of dealers, they should also be covered by this Directive.

(6) Since brokers provide services similar to those of dealers, they should also be covered by this Directive and should be subject to the same obligations as dealers in all relevant respects.

Or. en

Justification

The addition of a definition of brokers, pursuant to the United Nations Protocol on the illicit manufacturing of and trafficking in firearms, has led to a certain overlap with the original definition of dealers. In order to avoid creating loopholes and to facilitate transposition, brokers and dealers should be subject to the same obligations in all relevant respects. Linked to AM 33 and globally.

Amendment 16

Proposal for a directive Recital 7

Text proposed by the Commission

(7) Taking into consideration the high risk of reactivating badly deactivated weapons and in order to enhance security across the Union, deactivated firearms should be covered by this Directive. Additionally, for the most dangerous firearms stricter rules should be introduced in order to ensure that those firearms are not allowed to be owned or traded. Those rules should also apply to firearms of that category even after they have been deactivated. Where those rules are not respected, Member States should take appropriate measures including the destruction of those firearms.

Amendment

(7) Deactivated firearms should not be covered by this Directive if they have been deactivated in accordance with Implementing Regulation (EU) 2015/2403 or in accordance with prior national standards and procedures recognised as resulting in the firearms being rendered permanently unfit for use, inoperable and incapable of being converted into functioning firearms.

Or. en

Amendment 17

Proposal for a directive Recital 7 a (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

(7a) The acquisition and possession of firearms should only be permitted if, inter alia, there is good cause. It should be possible for Member States, although without being under any obligation in that regard, to find that the acquisition and possession of firearms for the purpose of,

for example, hunting, target shooting, various scientific, technical or testing activities and re-enactment of historical events, filmmaking or historical study can be good cause.

Or. en

Amendment 18

Proposal for a directive Recital 8

Text proposed by the Commission

(8) In order to ensure the traceability of deactivated firearms, they should be registered in national registries.

Amendment

(8) In order to increase the traceability of firearms and essential components and to facilitate their free movement, the provisions of Directive 91/477/EEC should be clarified to ensure that both an assembled firearm and all essential components, whether included in an assembled firearm or not, are marked irremovably at the time of their being manufactured, imported or otherwise placed on the market, unless the firearm has been deactivated in accordance with that Directive.

Or. en

Justification

Until such time as Regulation 258/2012 is amended, this also means that in order for firearms imported into the Union to be considered deactivated, they need to meet the requirements of this Directive and Regulation 2015/2403. Linked to AM 35.

Amendment 19

Proposal for a directive Recital 9

Text proposed by the Commission

(9) Some semi-automatic firearms can be easily converted to automatic firearms,

Amendment

(9) There is a risk that any firearms converted to firing blanks, irritants, other

thus posing a threat to security. Even in the absence of conversion to category "A", certain semi-automatic firearms may be very dangerous when their capacity regarding the number of rounds is high. Such semi-automatic weapons should therefore be banned for civilian use.

active substances or pyrotechnic ammunition can be converted back in such a way as to make them capable of firing live ammunition. Such firearms should therefore remain in the categories in which they were classified prior to their conversion.

Or. en

Justification

The proposal to recategorise cat B.7 would cause many practical problems in implementation and has been tried and rejected in certain Member States. The Rapporteur instead makes a series of alternative proposals. Firearms converted to firing blanks should remain in their original categories due to the particular risks associated with them. Automatic firearms converted to semi-automatic (as well as, for the avoidance of any doubt, semi-automatic firearms converted to automatic) should be in category A.

Amendment 20

Proposal for a directive

Recital 11

Text proposed by the Commission

(11) Firearms may be used for far more than 20 years. In order to ensure their traceability, records of them should be kept for an indeterminate period of time until destruction is certified.

Amendment

(11) Firearms potentially have a life-span of far more than 20 years. In order to ensure their traceability, records of them should be kept for an indeterminate period of time. The requirement to continue registering firearms and essential components after deactivation should only apply to those which are already registered and to the person possessing them at the time of deactivation; it should not apply to subsequent transfers of such deactivated firearms or essential components or to firearms and essential components which, pursuant to national rules applicable prior to the entry into force of this Directive, have been removed from the register after deactivation.

Or. en

Justification

Regulation 258/201, directly applicable in the MS, requires the computerised data-filing systems to also include, where appropriate and feasible, part and ammunition, hence it is not necessary to add that in this Directive. Member States should maintain one consolidated register, not separate ones for the purposes of that Regulation and Directive 91/477. This Directive does not require deactivated firearms which have been struck off national registers to be re-registered. Linked to AM 40.

Amendment 21

Proposal for a directive

Recital 12

Text proposed by the Commission

(12) Selling arrangements of firearms and their components by means of distance communication may pose a serious threat to security as they are more difficult to control than the conventional selling methods, especially as regards the on line verification of the legality of authorisations. It is therefore appropriate to limit the selling of arms and components by means of distance communication, notably internet, to dealers and brokers.*

Amendment

(12) Marketing of firearms, parts and ammunition by means of the internet or other means of distance communication, for example by way of online auction catalogues or classified advertisements, and the arranging of a sale or other transaction by means of, for example, telephone or email should, where allowed under national law, be possible provided that the actual handing over takes place on a face-to-face basis, so as to allow verification of identity and of the right to engage in such a transaction. The handing over can be either between the parties directly, or by way of collecting the firearm, essential component or ammunition at the premises of a dealer, local police station or another body authorised under the national law of the Member State concerned.*

Or. en

Justification

Legitimate use of means of distance communications should be permitted, as long as the actual handing over takes place under conditions ensuring that it is to an entitled person. Linked to AM 50.

Amendment 22

Proposal for a directive Recital 13

Text proposed by the Commission

(13) Furthermore, the risk of alarm weapons and other types of blank firing weapons being converted to real firearms is high, and in some of the terrorist acts converted arms were used. It is therefore essential to address the problem of converted firearms being used in criminal offences, notably by including them in the scope of the Directive. Technical specifications for alarm and signal weapons as well as for salute and acoustic weapons should be adopted in order to ensure that they cannot be converted into firearms.

Amendment

(13) Furthermore, to avoid the risk of alarm weapons and other types of blank firing weapons being manufactured in a way that enables them to be converted into real firearms, technical specifications should be adopted in order to ensure that they cannot be converted into firearms.

Or. en

Amendment 23 Proposal for a directive Article 1 – point 1 -a (new) Directive 91/477/EEC Article 1 – paragraph 1 – subparagraph 3 (new)

Present text

Amendment

(-a) In paragraph 1, the following subparagraph is added:

"In addition, any portable device containing an essential component which is capable of being used in a firearm shall be considered a firearm."

Amendment

(-aa) Paragraph 1a is replaced by the following:

"1a. For the purposes of this Directive, 'part' shall mean any element or replacement element specifically designed for a firearm and essential to its operation, including any essential component, and any device designed or adapted to diminish the sound caused by firing a firearm."

Amendment 25

Proposal for a directive

Article 1 – point 1 – point a

Directive 91/477/EEC

Article 1 – paragraph 1b

Text proposed by the Commission

1b. For the purposes of this Directive, "essential component" shall mean the barrel, frame, receiver, slide or cylinder, bolt or breach block and any device designed or adapted to diminish the sound caused by firing a firearm which, being separate objects, are included in the category of the firearms on which they are or are intended to be mounted.

Amendment

1b. For the purposes of this Directive, "essential component" shall mean the barrel, chamber, frame, body, receiver, slide or cylinder, bolt or breach block or other mechanism for containing the pressure of discharge at the rear of the chamber of a firearm which, being separate objects, are included in the category of the firearms on which they are or are intended to be mounted.

Justification

The definition of essential components must cover all those components critical to the working of the various types of firearms. Accessories, such as silencers, should not be included.

Amendment 26

Proposal for a directive

Article 1 – point 1 – point c

Directive 91/477/EEC

Article 1 – paragraph 1f

Text proposed by the Commission

1f. For the purposes of this Directive, "alarm and signal weapons" shall mean portable devices with a cartridge holder having a gas exit to the front, aside or on the top, which are specifically designed and constructed for the purpose of raising alarm or sending a signal and which are only designed to fire blanks, irritants, other active substances or pyrotechnic ammunition.

Amendment

1f. For the purposes of this Directive, "alarm and signal weapons" shall mean portable devices with a cartridge holder having a gas exit to the front, aside or on the top, which are specifically designed and constructed for the purpose of raising alarm or sending a signal and which are only designed to fire blanks, irritants, other active substances or pyrotechnic ammunition and are not capable of being converted to expel a shot, bullet or projectile by the action of a combustible propellant.

Justification

Linked to AMs 56-57.

Amendment 27

Proposal for a directive

Article 1 – point 1 – point c

Directive 91/477/EEC

Article 1 – paragraph 1g

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

1g. For the purposes of this Directive, "salute and acoustic weapons" shall mean firearms specifically converted for the sole use of firing blanks, for use in theatre performances, photographic sessions, movies and television recordings. deleted

Or. en

Justification

Instead of a complex definition relying on whether a firearm is "specifically" converted for the "sole" use in certain activities, firearms converted to fire blanks should simply be considered to still be live firearms and thus remain in their original categories. Linked to AMs 75, 80, 81 and 83.

Amendment 28

Proposal for a directive

Article 1 – point 1 – point c

For the purposes of this Directive, "replica firearms" shall mean objects that have the physical appearance of a firearm, but are manufactured in such a way that they cannot be converted to firing a shot or expelling a bullet or projectile by the action of a combustible propellant. deleted

Or. en

Justification

Any object that looks like a firearm and can be converted into one are covered by Art 1 of the Directive, which is further strengthened by the inclusion of any object which contains an essential component, AM 23. Objects that cannot be converted to firearms should remain outside scope.

Member States shall make arrangements for the deactivation of firearms to be verified by a competent authority in order to ensure that the modifications made to a firearm render it irreversibly inoperable. Member States shall, in the context of this verification, provide for the issuance of a certificate or record attesting to the deactivation of the firearm or the apposition of a clearly visible mark to that effect on the firearm.

Amendment

Implementing acts referred to in this paragraph shall be adopted in accordance with the examination procedure referred to in Article 13b(2).

2a. By 31 December 2016, for the purposes of point (a) of part III of Annex I, the Commission shall, in consultation with Member States and other relevant parties, examine which national standards and procedures for deactivation applied in one or more Member States before the date of application of Implementing Regulation (EU) 2015/2403 have resulted in firearms being rendered permanently unfit for use and inoperable, and shall provide for certified deactivations performed under such deactivation standards and procedures to be recognised as meeting the requirements laid down by Implementing Regulation (EU) 2015/2403.

Or. en

Justification

Certified deactivations done before the applicability of Regulation 2015/2403 under national systems then in place and resulting in permanent unfitness for use and inoperability are to be recognised in order to avoid any unnecessary requirement for re-deactivation, and because re-deactivation might not be technically feasible.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

Introduction

Since 1991 the European Union has had legislation on the acquisition and possession of firearms in the form of Directive 91/477/EC, which was amended in 2008. This directive lays down rules regarding the marking and traceability of firearms, as well as the conditions that must be met by individuals to be able to acquire and possess a firearm.

It is important to recognise that the vast majority of firearms held legally in the EU do not present any danger to the public.

Although the use of legally acquired firearms by criminals and terrorists is limited, there have been recorded cases. For example, a type of firearm used in the Charlie Hebdo attacks in Paris had been legally purchased in one Member State (MS) after conversion into a "blank-firing" acoustic firearm, which under the law of that MS before it was recently amended, did not require authorisation. It was then converted back into a live prohibited firearm.

It was in this context that the European Commission launched its review of the Firearms Directive. The Commission made a number of proposals that drastically change the scope and requirements of the Directive without presenting an impact assessment. Such an IA would have helped clarify the reasons for these proposals as well as the evidence base on which the proposals rest. Its absence has resulted in widespread concern from owners of legally acquired firearms from a number of different areas. It is clear that many stakeholders are concerned about the lack of clarity of some of the proposal and possible consequences for legal owners.

The Rapporteur has therefore endeavoured to consult as widely and transparently as possible in order to ensure her report tackles real problems and to limit unnecessary unintended consequences. She recommends maintaining the status quo wherever there is insufficient evidence to justify changing it.

However, in addition, the Commission adopted a Deactivation Regulation on the same day as its launch of the review of the Directive. Concerns have been expressed by stakeholders from many MS that the new Regulation may make it harder for law enforcement bodies to know if a firearm has been properly deactivated.

Deactivated firearms or replicas have legitimate uses in the film industry and military reenactments. The Rapporteur notes from exchanges of views with experts that there is a difference in practical usage of the term "deactivated" between experts. For the avoidance of doubt, the term deactivated firearm for the purposes of this proposal is understood as a firearm that has been irreversibly rendered inoperable.

For this reason, the Rapporteur believes that any changes to the Directive must therefore balance the right to ownership of certain types of firearms with controls appropriate to the risk they present.

1. Definition of a Firearm

The Rapporteur proposes to use an approach based on essential components such that any device which shares an essential component with a firearm is by definition a firearm.

Replicas and signal weapons are not treated as firearms unless they can be converted into firearms or share an essential component.

2. Blankfiring weapons

The Rapporteur proposes that any firearm which has been converted to firing blanks remains in the definition of firearm in their original category.

3. Magazines

The Rapporteur has received submissions from a small number of experts who have suggested that the control of magazines could be pursued, by determining magazines to be an "essential component" of a firearm. The Rapporteur has significant reservations about following this approach and has received many other representations, in view of the comparative simplicity of a magazine, which means the manufacture of a magazine is relatively easy, and the quantity of magazines which are already held legally by holders of firearms and are largely interchangeable. The effectiveness of such a measure is therefore not clear, and so the Rapporteur does not propose to include magazines within the scope of an "essential component".

4. Information Sharing

Certain law enforcement authorities have suggested improvements to information sharing. The Rapporteur proposes that records should be immediately accessible via interoperable systems.

5. Storage

The Rapporteur notes that most Member States already have rules on storage of firearms and recommends that this should be formalised in the directive and the storage requirements should take into account the nature and category of the firearms concerned.

6. Medical Tests

The Rapporteur believes that several improvements can be made to the Commission's initial proposals regarding medical testing, which shall reflect different best practices across Member States. The Rapporteur proposes that Member States establish a system for checks, either as a periodic assessment or as a continuous monitoring process.

7. Special Cases

The Rapporteur proposes to reinstate the existing provision in Article 6 which Member States may use to authorise certain persons to hold Category A firearms in specific circumstances.

The Rapporteur understands that there are organisations that require this authorisation, such as armorers, proof houses, manufacturers, forensic scientists, certain cases in film production and certain individuals for personal protection. The Rapporteur proposes that these authorisations should be on a case-by-case basis, strictly limited and only granted where it is not contrary to public security.

The Rapporteur proposes that authorisations for historical purposes are more strictly defined, only given where appropriate security measures are in place and given on a case-by-case basis at the discretion of the Member State.

8. Online sales

The Rapporteur proposes that distance sales should only be permitted provided that the final handing over of the firearm, essential component or ammunition takes place if the necessary checks have been carried out.

9. The Deactivation Regulation

A number of technical issues have been encountered by experts with the new Implementing Regulation on Deactivation, which comes into force on April 8th. The Rapporteur has proposed various ways to address this, either through detailed amendments to the Implementing Regulation, or through a review of previously existing standards, or through a specific amendment for firearms deactivated to technical definition of slotting and pinning.

10. Ammunition

The Rapporteur proposes that legislation already in place for the purposes of control of explosives precursors may be relevant for the control of ammunition, namely that suspicious purchases of large quantities of ammunition should be reported. As part of an effort to reduce the danger of illicit use of legally held firearms and their parts and ammunition, this type of obligation shall help address any risks associated with an unchecked ability to purchase ammunition.

11. Category A and B firearms

The Rapporteur understands that the Commission's proposal to recategorise "semiautomatic firearms for civilian use that resemble weapons with automatic mechanisms" into Category A would cause many practical problems in implementation and has been tried and rejected in certain Member States in the past.
