Subject: Turkey: Tariff suspension for unprocessed aluminium

According to the German government, in 2013 Turkey introduced an unlawful, unilateral tariff suspension for unprocessed aluminium imported from third countries. As a result, the Commission instructed the Member States' tax authorities to examine all 'A.TR' movement certificates carefully.

Will the Commission please answer the following questions:

1. Which Member States received this instruction, and when?
2. Has the Commission come to any other conclusions in the meantime as a result of Turkey's behaviour?
3. How can and should the Member States and the Commission safeguard the requisite legitimate expectations of importers? What measures are planned to this end?
