The PPE-DE Group moved that amendment 2, second part, be taken as an addition to the original paragraph.

Erika Mann, on behalf of the PSE Group, moved an oral amendment to paragraph 13, which then read as follows:

- '13. Welcomes the approach of the Financial Stability Forum (FSF) and of the IMF in establishing a common diagnosis of the financial turmoil, and looks forward to the implementation by both parties of the conclusions and policy recommendations from the FSF Working group on Market and Institutional Resilience; is of the view however that such work should only be complementary to, and should not replace, reflections and appropriate policy responses in the EU and the US;'

Miscellaneous

Marco Cappato (rapporteur) moved an oral amendment to Amendment 7, which now read as follows:

- ‘9. Considers that nonviolence is the most appropriate means of ensuring that fundamental human rights are enjoyed, upheld, promoted and respected to the full; believes that its promotion should constitute a priority objective in EU human rights and democracy policy and intends to contribute to keeping up to date with and studying modern non-violent theory and practice, partly through a comparative analysis of the best practice used in the past; proposes, with a view to giving this idea a central political role, that a European Conference on Non-Violence be convened in 2009 and that 2010 be designated “European Year of Non-Violence”; calls on the Member States to endeavour, under the auspices of the United Nations, to ensure that the 'Decade of Non-Violence 2010-2020' is proclaimed;’

Hélène Flautre, on behalf of the Verts/ALE Group, moved an oral amendment to Amendment 22, which then read as follows:

‘Notes that the UNHRC has the potential to develop into a valuable framework for the European Union's multilateral human rights efforts; notes, with concern, the fact that during the last year of activities that new body has not proved its credibility but stresses once again the crucial role of the UNHRC within the overall UN architecture; trusts that the implementation of the Universal Periodic Review mechanism will achieve the first concrete results and improvements; calls on the Council and the Commission closely to monitor this process so as to ensure that it implements United Nations General Assembly Resolution 60/251 of 15 March 2006 on the UNHRC, which is the starting point for the universal periodic review, based on objective and reliable information, of the fulfilment by each State of its human rights obligations and commitments in a manner which ensures universality of coverage and equal treatment with respect to all States; calls on the Council to consult Parliament on this matter;’
