Orna Kohn is a staff attorney at Adalah: The Legal Center for Arab Minority Rights in Israel. She has worked for the last decade as a Staff Attorney with Adalah and the Association for Civil Rights in Israel (ACRI), and has extensive experience litigating cases on human rights violations in Israel and the Occupied Palestinian Territories before the Israeli High Court of Justice and other tribunals (including the Or Commission of Inquiry). Ms. Kohn has particularly focused her work on such issues as citizenship; residency; movement restrictions; house demolitions; detainees and prisoners; police brutality and excessive use of force; and freedoms of speech, assembly, and association. In addition, she has advocated and lobbied on behalf of Adalah for the rights of the Palestinian minority in Israel at the national and international levels including before the Knesset, European Union, and the United Nations. Adalah is the first independent Palestinian legal center in Israel. Established in 1996, Adalah works to protect human rights in general, and the rights of Palestinian citizens of Israel in particular. Adalah's main goals are to achieve equal individual and collective rights for the Palestinians in Israel in different fields including land and planning rights; civil and political rights; cultural, social, and economic rights; religious rights; women's rights; and prisoners' rights.
