

Daniel Schwammenthal is the Director of the AJC Transatlantic Institute in Brussels and the co-host of “Good Evening, Brussels,” a weekly international politics programme on 90.2 FM in Brussels. Before joining the Transatlantic Institute in April 2011, Mr. Schwammenthal worked for seven years as an editorial page writer and op-ed editor for The Wall Street Journal Europe in Brussels and Amsterdam, writing about EU politics and economics, the Arab-Israeli conflict, Iran’s nuclear programme and human rights situation, radical Islam and terrorism. Prior to that, he worked for six years as a reporter for Dow Jones Newswires in Bonn, Berlin and Brussels covering German and European politics, economics and regulatory affairs. Mr. Schwammenthal, who was born in Germany, studied political science and political economy at the University of Aachen and received an M.A. in international relations and international communication from Boston University and an L.L.M. in European law and policy from the University of Manchester.