Interactive learning project

"Liberty & Security" is a multimedia teaching and training module critically engaging with debates about balancing liberty and security in the European Union, including the changing nature of border controls and war. Jef Huysmans and Francesco Ragazzi have integrated findings from CHALLENGE ( The Changing Landscape of European Liberty and Security ), a European Commission funded FP6 project (2004-2009) in a most original combination of texts, videos and audios. Using visual tools and a flexible navigation system they make the complexity and political stakes of contemporary security practices accessible to a wider public. Its modular approach makes it also an excellent tool to support teaching.
