The Week Ahead 18 – 24 September 2017

Delegations

Delegations

EU/Latin America. The future of the multilateral trade system and the cooperation between the EU and Latin America in the fight against organised crime and terrorism will be some of the main topics addressed at the tenth plenary session of the Euro-Latin American Parliamentary Assembly (EuroLat), taking place in El Salvador. Other issues on the agenda are food price volatility, informal and undeclared work, regulation of lobbies, cooperation in the field of aviation and research. (Monday to Thursday)

Migration/Tunisia. A Civil Liberties Committee delegation will go to Tunisia to look into cooperation in managing migration and border-control between the EU and countries in the region, particularly in Libya. The delegation will discuss “search and rescue” operations in the Mediterranean and the current situation in detention centres and on human rights, as well as issues such as visa liberalisation and readmission agreements, with Tunisian ministers, members of Parliament as well as civil society representatives. (Monday to Friday)

Environment/Poland. Following the European Court of Justice decision ordering an immediate halt to logging in the protected Białowieża forest, and the refusal of Polish authorities to respect this ban, a delegation of the Environment Committee will go to Warsaw to meet with Polish Environment minister Jan Szyszko, NGOs as well as representatives from Polish industry and trade unions. (Monday to Wednesday)

EU funds/Hungary. Budgetary Control Committee MEPs will go to Hungary to visit a number of project sites and meet members of the Hungarian Parliament, the State Audit Office and civil society representatives. The Budgetary Control Committee regularly inspects EU-funded projects in the member states and other countries. (Monday to Wednesday)

Myanmar mission cancelled. In light of the recent developments in Myanmar, the European Parliament Committee on International Trade has decided to postpone indefinitely its planned visit to the country. Parliament just adopted a resolution calling for “the killings, harassment and rape of the Rohingya people” to cease immediately.

President’s diary. EP President Antonio Tajani will pay an official visit to France on Thursday and Friday. He will meet the President of the French Republic, Emmanuel Macron, Prime-Minister Édouard Philippe and National Assembly President François de Rugy.
