SHORT JUSTIFICATION

Directive 2006/123/EC (“Service” Directive) establishes general provisions facilitating the exercise of the freedom of establishment of service providers and the free movements of services. It also provides that Member States should provide for administrative simplification.

In the context of the Single Market Strategy, the launch of a European services e-card would increase certainty and reduce barriers for service providers who want to access other EU markets and expand their activities, making easier and less costly to provide services, while it could possibly have spill-over effects to other industries and positively enhance growth in the economy.

Presented together with a proposal for a Regulation, the current proposal for a Directive sets out the legal and operational framework of the European services e-card, regulating inter alia the conditions of eligibility, the competences of home and the host Member States, the validity and the conditions for revoking or suspending it.

The European e-card would apply to business and construction services, which fall under the Service Directive and aims to reduce administrative complexity for service providers, who wish to expand cross-border on a temporary or a more permanent way.

However, the Commission in its proposal is not sufficiently taking into account the concerns of Member States, relevant stakeholders, and the industry.

Therefore, the rapporteur is of the opinion that the Commission should improve the current proposal significantly.

The Committee on Industry, Research and Energy calls on the Committee on the Internal Market and Consumer Protection, as the committee responsible, to propose rejection of the Commission proposal.
