Amendment

5a. Notes that European law recognises the concepts of 'young farmers' and 'farmers commencing their agricultural activity'^{1a}; considers it necessary, in order to stimulate the potential of both groups in order to facilitate generational renewal and improve life in rural areas, to draw a greater distinction between the criteria for establishing incentives between the two groups (young farmers on the basis of age, and farmers commencing their agricultural activity on the basis of years since the establishment of their farm);
