DRAFT OPINION

of the Committee on Legal Affairs

for the Committee on Culture and Education on the proposal for a regulation of the European Parliament and of the Council establishing the Creative Europe programme (2021 to 2027) and repealing Regulation (EU) No 1295/2013 (COM(2018)0366 – C8-0237/2018 – 2018/0190(COD))

Rapporteur for opinion: Gilles Lebreton

SHORT JUSTIFICATION

Europe is more than just a continent. It is also a civilisation whose roots go back to ancient Rome and Greece and whose characteristics and values have been profoundly influenced by Christianity. That is why the European Union must not content itself with being merely an economic construct: it must also, above all, enhance the cultures of its Member States, with a view to safeguarding and promoting the wealth and diversity of Europe's civilisation. It is also set this objective under Article 3 of the TEU, which call on it to 'ensure that Europe's cultural heritage is safeguarded and enhanced', and Article 167 of the TFEU, which instructs it to contribute to the flowering of the cultures of the Member States while highlighting their common cultural heritage.

From this perspective, the cultural ambitions of the proposal for a regulation establishing the Creative Europe programme (2021 to 2027) can only be lauded. This draft document has the merit of renewing and improving the three strands of the Creative Europe programme set up in 2014, 'culture', 'media' and the 'cross-sectoral' strand.

The JURI Committee wishes to make its contribution to the updating and prolongation of this laudable project by stressing the need to link it more clearly to the protection of intellectual property. It also suggests clarifying certain concepts that it sees as ambiguous, such as 'media literacy' – which it proposes replacing with the more easily understandable notion of 'learning critical thinking' – and 'inclusion', which is a dangerous notion for social cohesion, and it proposes replacing with the more ambitious concept of 'assimilation'. Lastly, the committee wishes to take advantage of the opportunity offered by this document to put a stop to the unreasonable extension of the Commission's delegated acts, which is particularly questionable in cultural matters. It is with this in mind that it tables the following amendments.

AMENDMENTS

The Committee on Legal Affairs calls on the Committee on Culture and Education, as the committee responsible, to take into account the following amendments:

Amendment

(1) Culture, cultural heritage and cultural diversity are of great value to Europe from a cultural, environmental, social and economic point of view and should be promoted and supported. The Rome Declaration of 25 March 2017 as well as the European Council in December 2017 stated that education and culture are key to building thriving societies, and to sustaining European competitiveness.

March 2017 as well as the European Council in December 2017 stated that education and culture are key to building inclusive and cohesive societies for all, and to sustaining European competitiveness.

Recital 2

Text proposed by the Commission

(2) According to Article 2 of the Treaty on European Union (TEU), the Union is founded on the values of respect for human dignity, freedom democracy, equality, the rule of law and the respect for human rights, including the rights of the persons belonging to minorities. These values are common to the Member States in a society where pluralism, non-discrimination, tolerance, justice, solidarity and equality between women and men prevail. These values are further reaffirmed and articulated in the rights, freedoms and principles enshrined in the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union, which has the same legal value as the Treaties, as referred to in Article 6 of the TEU.

(5) The promotion of European cultural diversity depends on the existence of flourishing and resilient cultural and creative sectors, able to create, produce and distribute their works to a large and diverse European audience. This thereby enlarges their business potential and contributes to sustainable growth and jobs creation. In addition, promotion of creativity contributes to boosting competitiveness and sparking innovation in the industrial value chains. In spite of recent progress, the European cultural and creative market continues to be fragmented along national and linguistic lines, which do not allow the cultural and creative sectors to fully benefit from the European single market and the digital single market in particular.

This requires strong European cultural and creative sectors, in particular a vibrant European audiovisual industry, taking into account its capacity to reach large audiences and its economic importance, including for other creative sectors as well as cultural tourism. Amendment 5

Proposal for a regulation

Recital 9

Text proposed by the Commission

(9) Union intervention is needed in the audiovisual sector to accompany the Union's Digital Single Market policies. This concerns notably the modernisation of the copyright framework and the proposed Regulation on online transmissions of broadcasting organisations¹⁶, as well as the proposal to amend Directive 2010/13/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council¹⁷. They seek to strengthen the capacity of European audiovisual players to finance, produce and disseminate works that can be sufficiently visible on the different media of communication available (e.g. TV, cinema or Video On Demand) and attractive to audiences in a more open and competitive market within Europe and beyond. Support should be scaled up in order to address recent market developments and notably the stronger position of global platforms of distribution in comparison to national broadcasters traditionally investing in the production of European works.

Amendment

(9) Union intervention is needed in the audiovisual sector to accompany the Union's Digital Single Market policies. This entails, among other things, more effectively safeguarding intellectual property in this area. Defending the European audiovisual sector requires not only financial support for the creation and distribution of works, but also adequate legal protection for them and their creators. It is against this backdrop that there is a need for the modernisation of the copyright framework and the proposed Regulation on online transmissions of broadcasting organisations¹⁶, as well as the proposal to amend Directive 2010/13/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council¹⁷. They seek to strengthen the capacity of European audiovisual players to finance, produce and disseminate works that can be sufficiently visible on the different media of communication available (e.g. TV, cinema or Video On Demand) and attractive to audiences in a more open and competitive market within Europe and beyond.
