EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

On 30 January 2019, the European Commission presented a proposal to provide for contingency measures for the Erasmus+ programme in the event of a no-deal Brexit (i.e. the UK leaving the Union on 29 March 2019 without a withdrawal agreement in place). The proposal is in line with the Commission's 19 December 2018 Contingency Action Plan and aims to ensure that, should there be no withdrawal agreement between the EU and the UK at the point of the UK's departure, people participating in Erasmus+ could complete their exchange programme without interruption, without losing credits and with continued financial support. The Commission estimates that 14,000 EU-27 learners are currently in the UK and 7,000 UK learners in the EU. It would apply only to mobility actions and only to those that have started prior to the UK's departure. It is therefore a temporary measure. While it could apply for a maximum of 12 months in theory (the maximum period of an Erasmus+ exchange is 12 months), in most cases it would apply until the end of the current academic year. As is clear from the Proposal for a Council Regulation on 'Measures concerning the implementation and financing of the general budget of the Union in 2019 in relation to the withdrawal of the United Kingdom from the Union', the measure will not apply to projects funded under Erasmus+ (e.g. strategic partnerships) unless the UK continues to contribute to the EU budget for 2019.

While the Rapporteur continues to hope that an orderly withdrawal agreement can be reached, he nonetheless welcomes the Commission's initiative to give certainty to those learners who have invested time and often money in an Erasmus+ exchange and need to be able to complete it on the same basis on which they began. This is incredibly important for all concerned. Since the proposal is time-sensitive - it must be signed into law by 29 March 2019 - the Rapporteur proposes to leave the Commission text unchanged, save for two small additions.

Firstly, owing to the urgency of the procedure, it is not possible to respect the eight-week period for national parliaments to respond to legislative proposals under Article 4 of Protocol (No. 1) to the TEU, TFEU and EURATOM Treaty. This must be stated in a Recital in line with the relevant Article and he proposes an amendment to achieve this aim. Secondly, it is important to state in Article 4 that the Regulation does not enter into force if a withdrawal agreement is in place and a second amendment ensures that this is done.
