Discussion Draft of a Directive on Online Intermediary Platforms

A. Explanatory Memorandum

I. Purpose

The rapid growth of online intermediary platforms such as Airbnb, Uber or Amazon Marketplace has not only brought new challenges for existing business models. It has also trignational standardization bodies and guidelines issued by national consumer protection authorities.⁵

III. Background

The rise of online intermediary platforms has recently prompted regulatory initiatives in a number of EU member

Discussion Draft on Online Intermediary Platforms

• OIP general duties towards users
• OIP duties towards suppliers
• OIP duties towards customers
• Reputational systems
• OIP liability (inc. liability for the non-performance of the supplier-customer contract)

A “light touch” regulation

1. Platform operator – clarification of the function
2. Consumers / traders / professionals / private / prosumers
3. Reputational systems

Dr. Aneta Wiewiórowska, European Legal Studies Institute Osnabrück
Platform operator – clarification of the function

• Market place / intermediary?
• Taking part in performing the contract?

Dr. Aneta Wiewiórowska, European Legal Studies Institute Osnabrück
Consumers / traders / professionals / private / prosumers

• Prosumers challenge
• Platform clarification process
• Platform’s involvement and liability

Dr. Aneta Wiewiórowska, European Legal Studies Institute Osnabrück
Reputational systems

• Essential for trust economy/reputation economy
• Always a platform structure
• Self-standing or combined
• Reference to standardisation (e.g. AFNOR NF Z 74-501: Avis en ligne de consommateurs; ISO/TC 290: Online Reputation)

Conclusions

1. Quick wins:
   • Clarifying platform’s status
   • Clarifying users’ status
   • Dealing with reputational systems

2. Not only in B2C context
