

Linda Laura Sabbadini

Social statistician.

Director of social and environmental statistics of the Italian National Statistical Institute from 2011 until 2016.

Director of quality of life and living condition statistics from 2000 until 2011.

She guided the process of radical innovation of social and gender statistics in Italy giving visibility to the invisible people in statistics, women, children, elderly people, poor people, homeless, migrants.

Member of high-level groups of international organizations: UN, European Commission, OECD.

Member of high-level Commissions in Italy, Commission of Poverty and social exclusion. Commission of equal opportunity etc.

Author of 100 publications on gender and social analysis.

Columnist of the newspaper La Stampa since 2016.

In 2006 the President of Italy appointed her as “Commendatore” for the high level of innovation in social and gender statistics and analysis.

In 2015 she was rewarded as one of the 100 excellencies in Italy.