

Santa Ozolina is working as Policy Officer Employment and Social Affairs at the European Youth Forum and lives in Brussels. Currently, issues such as youth transition to labour market, quality employment and internships are among the highest priorities on the Forum`s agenda. Besides these, Ms Ozolina also works on topics such as youth autonomy, family and work life reconciliation and is in charge to coordinate a large-scale, long-term, trans-national project called “Youth Employment Action” aimed at gathering good practices regarding the role of youth organisations on how to create entrance to the labour market and decent working conditions for young people.

Santa Ozolina comes from Latvia and previously worked for several years at the National Trade Union Confederation of Latvia (LBAS) in Riga and was responsible for Employment and Social issues. Santa has a master`s degree from Maastricht Graduate School of Governance in Public Policy and Human Development with a specialization in Social Policy and Labour.
