1. Underlines the importance of advancing a credible EU accession perspective as a key factor to preserve both the support of the public and the dedication to the ongoing implementation of comprehensive and transformative reforms; recalls the support that the European Parliament has given to Albania's European path, inter alia in its latest resolution of 25 March 2021, in which it expresses its support for convening the first Intergovernmental Conference without further delay; recalls the European Commission report of 19 October 2021, which reiterates that Albania has continued to meet all other conditions and has made further, considerable, steady progress in addressing the other priorities highlighted by the Council; notes with concern that the Council has not yet set the date for the first Intergovernmental Conference; therefore, calls upon the EU Member States to fully endorse the Commission's report and to agree to adopt the negotiating framework, and to set the date for the first Intergovernmental Conference, and, in line with the Council Decision of 25 March 2020, as endorsed by the European Council, to start the accession negotiations with Albania;
2. Highlights that European integration represents the aspirations of generations of Albanian citizens towards democracy and prosperity and that the prospect of merit-based EU membership contributes to the Union's own political stability, security and economic growth; reaffirms the importance of European values and reforms in countering the foreign direct and proxy interference and disinformation attempting to destabilise the region; welcomes the high level of support for EU integration among Albanian citizens, as well as among the political parties; welcomes Albania's continued active participation in Common Security and Defence Policy missions and operations and commends Albania's full alignment with the EU Common Foreign and Security Policy;

7. Recognises the crucial contribution of civil society and media in the ongoing development of democracy in Albania; acknowledges the constitutional guarantees of freedom of expression and media freedoms; nevertheless expresses concern and urges Albania to sustain and intensify efforts to ensure the protection of media freedom; encourages further progress on the exercise of freedom of expression, media independence and pluralism, in line with the recommendations of the Venice Commission; calls for enhanced transparency of media ownership, funding and public advertising;

Welcomes the establishment of the Ad-Hoc Parliamentary Committee on Electoral Reform in addressing all the OSCE/ODHIR recommendations and the identified electoral shortcomings by improving the accessibility and integrity of elections, the proper use of the public administrations and resources, including digitalisation, citizens' data protection, equitable access to media and revised rules on political party financing, in line with European best practices and the recommendations
