Foreword by Robert Biedroń, Chair

Dear colleagues, dear friends,

Ahead of our last committee meeting, it is time we look back at the last 5 years of work in our committee. Saying that we have managed to do a lot, would not pay justice to the work you all have put in into the many accomplishments of the FEMM committee these years. That is so, because it is a historic time for us - it has been the most active legislative term since the FEMM committee has been created. It is a great success that we all should be proud. But, we very well know, that it is not only the quantity but also the quality of our work that really matters.

We have made history in the area of women's economic independence and empowerment. We managed to unblock and adopt the Women on Board directive, which had been blocked for 10 years. We managed to negotiate the revolutionary Pay Transparency Directive; a key instrument necessary to eliminate the gender pay gap, and finally truly enforce the principle of equal pay, enshrined in the Rome Treaty already in 1957. Hence, anyone can see that if something that could not be done, must be done, the FEMM committee members are the ones to do it.

We should also see the advancement in the area of tackling gender based violence as a great step forward to the EU that we managed to take thanks to our work. The accession of the EU to the Istanbul convention was the first step that we followed with a very strong Directive on Combatting Violence Against Women. Maybe we have not managed to accomplish everything that our committee wanted, but we secured a new, strong legal framework that will improve the protection of European women for years to come. We agreed on the revision of the Anti-Trafficking Directive and introduced new standards for Equality Bodies, both key for protecting European people. We also managed to secure a very strong stance on sexual and reproductive health and rights of women, what as we all know has been so crucial during this Parliamentary term.

This is not a place to list all and every one of our achievements; between all the negotiations, we have delivered many crucial resolutions and opinions; we have organized numerous public hearings and events, including the Gender Equality Week, which became and will remain a tradition in this house. Nevertheless, I hope that when we will look back at these years in our committee, we will not only remember the number of files that we have concluded, but also all the fruitful discussions, all the friendships made and the time we have devoted to making this house, Europe but also ourselves better.

I would like to hereby thank you all, members, assistants and staff alike, for your tireless efforts, dedication and devotion to women's rights and gender equality. It has been an honour and a pleasure to work with all of you. Your knowledge, talent and passion have been and will remain a source of inspiration for me and those years spent together - I will never forget. What a journey it has been?! Bravo!

Committee mandate

(based on its competences in the Rules of Procedure, Annex VI)

The Committee on Women's Rights and Gender Equality is responsible for:

1. the definition, promotion and protection of women's rights in the Union and related Union measures
2. the promotion of women's rights in third countries
3. equal opportunities policy, including the promotion of equality between men and women with regard to labour market opportunities and treatment at work;
4. the removal of all forms of violence and discrimination based on sex
5. the implementation and further development of gender mainstreaming in all policy sectors
6. the follow-up and implementation of international agreements and conventions involving the rights of women
7. the encouragement of awareness of women's rights

This document gives an overview of the main activities and initiatives of the Committee on Women's Rights and Gender Equality. In addition to providing brief descriptions of the main reports, it includes detailed lists of handled opinions, oral questions and resolutions, missions and ad-hoc delegations, public hearings, interparliamentary committee meetings and other events.

Amending Directive 2011/36/EU on preventing and combating trafficking in human beings and protecting its victims
Directive 2011/36/EU of the European Parliament and the Council constitutes the main Union legal instrument on preventing and combating trafficking in human beings and protecting the victims of this crime. That Directive sets out a comprehensive framework to address trafficking in human beings by establishing minimum rules concerning the definition of criminal offences and sanctions. It also includes common provisions to strengthen prevention and protection of victims, taking into account the gender perspective. The aim of this amending act is to amend the anti-trafficking Directive (Directive 2011/36/EU) to better protect its victims. Following the work done jointly by FEMM and LIBE committees, the agreement reached in the inter-institutional negotiations between the Parliament and the Council should bring following changes in the revised directive: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • increase the means to prevent and combat child trafficking and of other very vulnerable persons such as people with disabilities, refugees or stateless persons; • tackle the online dimension of the crime through the dissemination of sexual content as an aggravating circumstance; • criminalize the use of services with the knowledge that the provider is a victim of trafficking; • strengthen penalties and deterrents for any legal entities involved in such a crime; • be victim-oriented, with improved prevention through training, assistance, support, and protection through specialized units, and finally compensation to victims through voluntary national funds. • ensure that each Member States will establish relevant national action plans and a dedicated national coordinator against trafficking. 	2022/0426(COD) Joint with LIBE Rapporteur: FEMM: Eugenia RODRÍGUEZ PALOP (The Left)  LIBE: Malin BJÖRK (The Left) 10/10/2023 Committee report tabled for plenary, 1st reading A9-0285/2023 15/02/2024 Approval in committee of the text agreed at 1st reading interinstitutional negotiations PE759.031

Standards for equality bodies in the field of equal treatment and equal opportunities between women and men in matters of employment and occupation
The proposed legislation was based on two different legal bases with different procedures; therefore, two Commission proposals (Directive and Council Directive) were published. Yet their content is substantively the same. The Parliament had only powers as a co-legislator on the first proposal (COD) through the Ordinary Legislative Procedure, whereas it could give its consent to the latter (APP) through the Consent Procedure. For more information regarding Council Directive (APP) see below under Assent procedure (consent). The agreement resulting from interinstitutional negotiations on COD Directive establishes new standards for equality bodies and ensures that new anti-discrimination rules are effectively applied and enforced in the EU. Equality bodies will be independent, free from external influence and not receive any instructions from government under the new rules. They also ensure that equality bodies have sufficient human, technical and financial resources to carry out their tasks. The new rules enable equality bodies to better carry out activities to prevent discrimination and to foster equal treatment, such as promoting positive action and gender mainstreaming, taking into account specific situations of disadvantage resulting from intersectional discrimination. Finally, victims of discrimination will have the option to seek an alternative to taking their case to court to resolve their dispute, such as mediation and conciliation, in each member state.	2022/0400(COD) Joint with EMPL Rapporteur: FEMM: Sirpa PIETIKÄINEN (EPP)  EMPL: Marc ANGEL (S&D) 10/11/2023 Committee report tabled for plenary, 1st reading A9-0354/2023 11/01/2024 Approval in committee of the text agreed at 1st reading interinstitutional negotiations PE757.960 10/04/2024 Decision by Parliament, 1st reading P9_TA(2024)0196

Combating violence against women and domestic violence This Directive was proposed to provide a comprehensive framework to effectively prevent and combat violence against women and domestic violence throughout the Union. Following the work done jointly by FEMM and LIBE committees, the agreement reached in the inter-institutional negotiations is strengthening and introducing measures in the following areas: the definition of relevant criminal offences and penalties, the protection of victims and access to justice, victim support, enhanced data collection, prevention, coordination and cooperation. The provisions of this Directive which relate to the rights of victims should apply to all victims of criminal conduct which amounts to violence against women or domestic violence, as criminalised under Union or national law. This includes the criminal offences defined in this Directive, namely female genital mutilation, forced marriage, the non-consensual sharing of intimate or manipulated material, cyber stalking, cyber harassment, cyber flashing, cyber incitement to violence or hatred, and criminal conduct covered by other Union acts, in particular Directives 2011/36/EU and 2011/93/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council, which define criminal offences concerning the sexual exploitation of children and trafficking of human beings for the purpose of sexual exploitation. Certain criminal offences under national law fall under the definition of violence against women. This includes crimes such as femicide, rape, sexual harassment, sexual abuse, stalking, early marriage, forced abortion, forced sterilisation and different forms of cyber violence, such as online sexual harassment and cyber bullying. Specific prevention measures of rape are included in this Directive, and the promotion of the central role of consent in sexual relationships. Lastly, a child who witnesses domestic violence, within the family or domestic unit will be considered a victim under this Directive, because child witnesses typically suffer direct psychological and emotional harm that impacts their development. To acknowledge that children who have suffered harm caused directly by having witnessed domestic violence are themselves victims, marks an important step forward in protecting those children suffering because of domestic violence.	2022/0066(COD) Joint with LIBE Rapporteur: FEMM: Frances FITZGERALD (EPP)  LIBE: Evin INCIR (S&D) 06/07/2023 Committee report tabled for plenary, 1st reading A9-0234/2023 15/02/2024 Approval in committee of the text agreed at 1st reading interinstitutional negotiations PE759.029

Gender balance among non-executive directors of companies listed on stock exchanges
The FEMM and JURI committees voted to achieve a more balanced representation of women and men among the directors of listed companies by establishing effective measures to accelerate progress towards gender balance, while allowing listed companies sufficient time to make the necessary adjustments to achieve this. It applies to listed companies and does not apply to micro, small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs). Objectives for gender balance on boards At least 40% of non-executive director posts or 33% of all director posts should be occupied by the under-represented sex by the end of June 2026. Means to achieve the targets Listed companies that do not meet the targets should adapt the process for selecting candidates as directors. Suspension clause The suspension clause would only be available to Member States that have adopted national measures that are demonstrably 'equally effective' as those provided for in the Directive. Publication of information Listed companies should provide information on the gender representation once a year. Member States should publish a list of listed companies that have met the objectives. Penalties Member States should lay down rules on penalties applicable to breaches. Full summary	2012/0299(COD) Joint with JURI Rapporteur: FEMM: Evelyn REGNER (S&D)  JURI: Lara WOLTERS (S&D) 17/11/2022 Committee recommendation tabled for plenary, 2nd reading A9-0275/2022 22/11/2022 Decision by Parliament, 2nd reading T9-0393/2022

Council decision inviting Member States to ratify the Violence and Harassment Convention, 2019 (No. 190) of the 2023/2118(INI)
The FEMM and EMPL committees recommended that the European Parliament give its consent to the Council decision. The ILO Convention No. 190 (C190) is the first international treaty to recognise the right of everyone to a world of work free from violence and harassment, including gender-based violence and harassment. It sets the obligation to respect, promote and realise this right, as well as minimum standards for tackling harassment and violence to promote a healthy, safe, and equal work environment for all. The Convention: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • provides the first international definition of violence and harassment in the world of work • lays out the scope of the convention, which protects workers and other persons in the world of work including employees, workers irrespective of their contractual status, persons in training, workers whose employment has been terminated, volunteers, job seekers, and job applicants as well as supervisors and employers. The convention applies to all sectors, whether private or public, both in the formal and informal economy, and whether in urban or rural areas • sets out the core principles of the convention, which promotes an inclusive, integrated, and gender-responsive approach to prevent and eliminate violence and harassment in the world of work • requires Member States to define and prohibit violence and harassment in the world of work in laws and regulations and to adopt appropriate measures to prevent it • requires Member States to monitor and enforce laws and regulations laid out by the convention and to ensure easy access to safe, fair, and effective reporting and dispute resolution mechanisms and procedures • requires that Member States, in consultation with social partners, shall seek to ensure that relevant national policies address violence and harassment in the world of work Full summary	2020/0011(NLE) Joint with EMPL Rapporteur: FEMM: Cindy FRANSSEN (EPP)  EMPL: Kira Marie PETER-HANSEN (Greens/EFA) 6/02/2024 Committee report tabled for plenary, 1st reading/single reading A9-0040/2024 12/03/2024 Council decision T9-0135/2024

Council of Europe Convention on preventing and combating violence against women and domestic violence ('Istanbul Convention')
Parliament gave its consent to the EU's accession to the Council of Europe Convention on preventing and combating violence against women and domestic violence ('Istanbul Convention'), which came into force in 2014 as the first legally binding international instrument on preventing and combating violence against women and girls at international level. It is the first international text that defines violence against women and girls and establishes a comprehensive framework of legal and policy measures for preventing such violence, supporting victims and punishing perpetrators. The Convention recognises violence against women as a violation of human rights and a form of discrimination against women. It covers various forms of gender-based violence, which refers to violence directed against women because they are women or violence affecting them disproportionately. The Istanbul Convention is at the centre of a monitoring system, based on a two pillar monitoring mechanism: (i) an independent expert body (GREVIO), which draws up reports on the themes of the Convention; (ii) a Committee of the Parties (which follows up on GREVIO reports and makes recommendations to the parties concerned). The Parliament gave its consent to two decisions on the EU accession to the Convention: Council Decision (EU) 2023/1075 of 1 June 2023 on the conclusion, on behalf of the European Union, of the Council of Europe Convention on preventing and combating violence against women and domestic violence with regard to institutions and public administration of the Union Council Decision (EU) 2023/1076 of 1 June 2023 on the conclusion, on behalf of the European Union, of the Council of Europe Convention on preventing and combating violence against women and domestic violence with regard to matters related to judicial cooperation in criminal matters, asylum and non-refoulement Before the draft Council decisions were submitted for consent, Parliament adopted also an interim report requesting the EU accession to the Convention.	2016/0062A(NLE) 2016/0062B(NLE) Joint with LIBE Rapporteur: FEMM: Arba KOKALARI (EPP)  LIBE: Łukasz KOHUT (S&D) 15/02/2023 Parliament interim report 10/05/2023 Decisions by Parliament 01/06/2023 Council decision 02/06/2023 Final acts published in Official Journal

Identifying gender-based violence as a new area of crime listed in Article 83(1) TFEU
Gender-based violence, including against LGBTIQ+ persons, both online and offline, accompanied by a lack of access to adequate protection, is the most serious manifestation of gender-based discrimination and constitutes a violation of the fundamental rights enshrined in the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union. EU surveys show that one in three women in the EU, or 62 million women, have experienced physical and/or sexual violence since the age of 15 and one in two (55%) have been sexually harassed. The World Health Organisation (WHO) reports that worldwide, almost a third (27%) of women aged between 15 and 49 who have been in a relationship have reported that they have been subjected to some form of physical and/or sexual violence by their intimate partner. Overall, as many as 38% of all murders of women are committed by their intimate partners. The COVID-19 crisis has led to a dramatic increase in gender-based violence, with a 60% increase in the number of emergency calls made by women victims of violence. In response to this situation, Parliament asked the Commission to submit, on the basis of Article 83(1), third subparagraph, of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union, a proposal for a Council decision identifying gender-based violence as a new area of serious crime with a cross-border dimension. This would serve as a legal basis for a victim-centred Directive of the European Parliament and of the Council to prevent and combat all forms of gender-based violence, both online and offline. Full summary	2021/2035(INL) Joint with LIBE Rapporteur: FEMM: Diana RIBA I GINER (Greens/EFA)  LIBE: Malin BJÖRK (The Left) 22/07/2021 Committee report tabled for plenary A9-0249/2021 16/09/2021 Decision by Parliament T9-0388/2021

Combating Gender-based Violence: Cyberviolence
Parliament stressed that cyber violence against women and LGBTIQ people is a continuation of off-line gender-based violence and that no policy alternative will be effective if it does not take this reality into consideration. Furthermore, there is no harmonised definition of gender-based cyber-violence, which leads to wide disparities between Member States in terms of protection, support and compensation for victims. The Council was invited to activate a passerelle clause by adopting a decision defining gender-based violence as an area of particularly serious crime with a cross-border dimension, in accordance with Article 83(1), third subparagraph, TFEU. EU legislation to combat all forms of gender-based violence Parliament called on the Commission to submit without delay a proposal for a legislative act laying down measures to combat gender-based cyber-violence. The future directive should include minimum rules on the definition of the offence of gender-based cyber-violence and related sanctions and put in place measures to support Member States' action in the field of prevention of this offence and provide for measures to protect and support victims and ensure that they obtain redress. The proposal should include a common definition of cyber-violence based on the definitions contained in existing instruments, such as the Council of Europe Convention on Cybercrime or the Istanbul Convention. The scope of the legislative proposal should cover any form of gender-based violence committed, assisted or aggravated in part or fully by the use of ICT, such as mobile phones and smartphones, the internet, social media platforms or email, against a woman because she is a woman, or affects women disproportionately or against LGBTIQ people on the grounds of gender identity. Full summary	2020/2035(INL) Joint with LIBE Rapporteur: FEMM: Elissavet VOZEMBERG- VRIONIDI (EPP)  LIBE: Sylvia SPUREK (Greens/EFA) 06/12/2021 Committee report tabled for plenary A9-0338/2021 14/12/2021 Decision by Parliament T9-0489/2021

Equality between women and men in the European Union in 2018–2020
In the report, Parliament stressed that women’s rights are human rights and thus universal and indivisible, as enshrined in the Treaty on European Union and the Charter of Fundamental Rights. The struggle for gender equality and the promotion and protection of women’s rights is a truly collective responsibility that requires faster progress and efforts by EU institutions and Member States. This report highlighted: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • An economy based on equality between women and men • The eradication of gender-based violence • Health, education, inclusion and poverty Full summary	2021/2020(INI) Rapporteur: Sandra PEREIRA (The Left)  28/10/2021 Vote in committee A9-0315/2021 15/12/2021 Decision by Parliament T9-0500/2021

Gender Mainstreaming in the European Parliament - annual report 2020 In the report, Parliament notes that it should be a leader for gender equality. However, gender mainstreaming is not yet fully integrated into Parliament's practices and rules. Members regretted the fragmented implementation of gender mainstreaming across policy areas and institutions at the EU level. They stressed that gender equality is a joint responsibility that requires action by all EU institutions, Member States and agencies, in partnership with civil society, women's organisations, social partners and the private sector. Noting the lack of quantitative and qualitative data on gender mainstreaming within the EU institutions, the report called for comprehensive gender statistics and for the creation of qualitative indicators on gender equality to collect additional gender-disaggregated data in order to continue improving gender equality. Members welcomed the EIGE's 'Gender-sensitive parliaments' toolkit and the adoption of gender action plans by all Parliament committees but called for better monitoring of the implementation of these plans. Regulation of prostitution in the EU: its cross-border implications and impact on gender equality and women's rights
Parliament noted that approaches to address prostitution vary across the EU. The resolution highlighted that the greater the asymmetry between national prostitution legislation within the EU, given that the prostitution markets and its actors operate across borders, the more victims of trafficking for sexual exploitation there are. Member States are called upon to put in place effective measures to reduce the demand for prostitution and, consequently, trafficking in human beings, sexual exploitation and the operations of organised criminal groups. Members stressed the urgent need to improve and better coordinate cross-border cooperation with regard to the collection and exchange of reliable and accurate data, comparable between countries, on prostitution, sexual exploitation, violence in prostitution and the results of exit programmes. Full summary	2022/2139(INI) Rapporteur: Maria NOICHL (S&D)  27/06/2023 Vote in committee A9-0240/2023 14/09/2023 Decision by Parliament T9-0328/2023

Sexual harassment in the EU and MeToo evaluation Gender-based violence is both a cause and a consequence of gender inequality, discrimination and the violation of human rights. It is a serious obstacle to the participation of women, girls and other victims in all areas of private and public life, preventing them from fully enjoying their rights and fundamental freedoms. Strongly condemning all forms of gender-based violence, including sexual violence, and all forms of harassment, in particular sexual harassment, Parliament once again called on the Commission to submit, under Article 83(1) TFEU, a proposal for a Council decision identifying gender-based violence as a new area of crime. It also called for swift ratification by the EU and all Member States of the Istanbul Convention on preventing and combating violence against women. Sexual harassment must be included as an offence in the field of employment, in accordance with the EU's existing anti-discrimination directives. Members also stressed the importance of combating cyber-violence in the workplace and paying particular attention to women and girls fleeing war, especially those from Ukraine. Members strongly supported the international MeToo movement. Since 2017, the MeToo movement has taken hold in some Member States and that, subsequently, changes have been made by governments and organisations to tackle sexual violence, help victims and address the negative consequences for society. Members noted, however, that in some Member States, there has been little or no progress in this regard and called on Member States to pro-actively design and implement legislation and policies that tackle sexual violence and harassment in our society. Full summary	2022/2138(INI) Rapporteur: Michal ŠIMEČKA (RENEW)  25/04/2023 Vote in committee A9-0178/2023 01/06/2023 Decision by Parliament T9-0217/2023

Towards a common European action on care Members noted that it is essential to ensure dignity, independence, autonomy, well-being and participation in social life through quality care throughout life. People in need of care and their carers should have the right to make a real choice about the care services that are appropriate for them and their families, how they are provided (home care, community-based services, patient-centred care, personalised care or other), where they are provided and how often they are provided, with particular attention to providing care and ensuring access to it for people living in remote areas. Parliament called on the Commission to present an ambitious, robust and sustainable European care strategy that builds on everyone's right to affordable, accessible and high-quality care, as well as on other principles set out in the EPSR and EU strategic documents, and the individual rights and needs of both care recipients and carers, and that encompasses the entire life course, targeting and responding to the needs of people at critical periods throughout their lifetime. Members stressed that the strategy should be based on reliable, comprehensive and comparable data that is publicly available. They insisted that the strategy should include concrete and progressive targets with a timetable and indicators to assess progress and tackle inequalities, taking into account the care needs in European societies. The Commission was invited to include comprehensive measures to combat violence and harassment, including all forms of abuse of older persons and abusive acts against carers in the European care strategy. For their part, Member States should ensure that investment in the care economy is included in national recovery and resilience plans, in the Cohesion Fund and in all other relevant EU financial instruments. Parliament recalled the commitments of the EU and the Member States to move away from isolated institutional care and towards community and family-based care, and to promote various models of care and independent living. The situation of sexual and reproductive health and rights in the EU, in the frame of women's health
The resolution noted that sexual and reproductive health and rights (SRHR) fall under the competences of Member States and as such, they have a responsibility to ensure access to a full range of SRHR services. Sexual and reproductive rights (SRR) are recognised as human rights in international and European human rights law and violations of SRHR constitute breaches of human rights. All challenges related to SRHR faced within Member States constitute common European challenges. Numerous reports show that, during the COVID-19 pandemic and lockdown, SRHR services were limited and/or revoked, and there was a disruption in access to essential medical services such as contraception and abortion care, HIV and STI testing, access to female genital mutilation prevention and awareness centres and reproductive cancer screenings, and respectful maternal healthcare, which has had severe implications for women's fundamental right to bodily autonomy. The COVID-19 pandemic has shown that there is a need to strengthen the resilience of health systems to such crises, to ensure that services related to SRHR continue to be fully available and are provided in a timely manner. Full summary	2020/2215(INI) Rapporteur: Predrag Fred MATIĆ (S&D)  11/05/2021 Vote in committee A9-0169/2021 24/06/2021 Decision by Parliament T9-0314/2021

Scrutiny and oversight activities of the Committee

The Committee continued during the 9th term its work on the scrutiny front with regard the implementation of existing legislation, the implementation of the EU budget and other EU policies. Scrutiny activities have been performed through written and oral questions to the Commission, Council or the High Representative and the exchanges of views with Commission representatives, representatives of other institutions and agencies. The regular exchange with the European Commission on the Commission's annual work programme was organised in the context of the so-called "structured dialogue" with Commissioner Dalli, responsible for the FEMM portfolio. In addition to Commissioner Dalli, the Committee exchanged views also with Vice-President Jourová, responsible for values and transparency, Commissioner Johansson, responsible for Home Affairs, as well as other Commissioners on topics falling within their remit.

Hearing of Commissioners

The FEMM Committee, as part of its remit, conducts the hearing of the Commissioner-designate for Equality, and also takes part in the hearings of other Commissioners-designates if their portfolios fall partially within the FEMM Committee's remit.

In 2019, FEMM jointly with the EMPL committee, organised the hearing of Helena Dalli.

Furthermore, FEMM was invited by other committees to participate in the hearings of four Commissioners-designate:

- Dubravka ŠUICA, Democracy and Demography, organised by AFCE
- Nicolas SCHMIT, Jobs and Social Rights, organised by EMPL
- Ylva JOHANSSON, Home Affairs, organised by LIBE
- Jutta URPILAINEN, International Partnerships, organised by DEVE

In addition, as part of the common questions to all Commissioners-designate under the theme "General competence, European commitment and personal independence", each Commissioner-designate was asked to explain how they would implement gender mainstreaming and integrate a gender perspective into all policy areas of their portfolio.

Structured dialogue with the Commission

As part of the work on the preparation of the annual work programme of the Commission in the remit of FEMM, FEMM was inviting each year in spring Commissioner Helena Dalli for a structured dialogue, in line with the Better Lawmaking Agreement to discuss on the progress made in the area of the committee's remit, upcoming legislative proposals and what still needs to be done. The exchanges of views were feeding into the formulation of the FEMM priorities for the upcoming Commission were programme, presented each year in autumn.

The structured dialogues with Commissioner Dalli took place in February 2020, February 2021, March 2022, March 2023.

Annual budgetary procedure and Discharge

The FEMM committee has regularly issued its opinions for the annual budgetary procedure for the EU budget, as well as for the annual budgetary discharge procedures every year for the general budget of the EU and for EIGE. Every year the FEMM committee has recommended that discharge be granted to both the Commission on the general budget and to EIGE, whilst also noting the specific circumstances of each year's budget and the political and legal commitments of the Union vis-à-vis gender equality. The FEMM committee has consistently advocated for the proper funding for gender equality, including regarding staffing at EIGE, the collection of quality data, and gender mainstreaming.

Working Group on EIGE

The FEMM Committee had regular and strong cooperation with EIGE through this parliamentary term. This cooperation was even more enhanced by the work of the Working Group on EIGE. On 4 September 2019, the FEMM Coordinators endorsed the composition of Working Group on EIGE, consisting of MEPs from six political groups who expressed their interest in the Working Group. At its constitutive meeting, the Working Group approved its Functioning Agreement, which among others, stated that the decisions will be taken by consensus, that it would meet every six months and that the chairpersonship would rotate. During this term, the Working Group on EIGE met five times and held exchanges with EIGE's Director, with the European Parliament's appointed members of the Experts' Forum of the EIGE and with the Chair of the Management Board of EIGE.

25th anniversary of the International Conference on Population and Development (ICPD25) (Nairobi Summit)
2019 marked 25 years since the International Conference on Population and Development (ICPD) in Cairo, where the ICPD Programme of Action was adopted by 179 governments, declaring a global commitment to sexual and reproductive health and rights (SRHR) in line with the Beijing Platform for Action and the Programme of Action itself, and consolidating the consensus to place the rights and well-being of the individual at the centre of the reproductive health agenda and demographic planning. ICPD Programme of Action – since 1994 Parliament commended the progress that has been made so far in specific areas such as the increasing availability of contraceptives, which has allowed women greater control over fertility, or decreasing maternal and new-born mortality. However, efforts need to be considerably stepped if the objectives of the Programme are to be attained. The resolution welcomed the objective agreed at the Nairobi Summit to mobilise the political will and financial commitments urgently needed to finally achieve zero unmet need for family planning information and services, zero preventable maternal deaths, and zero sexual and gender-based violence and harmful practices against women and girls. Parliament reaffirmed that SRHR are grounded in human rights, are essential elements of human dignity, and remain crucial to achieving gender equality. It called for the EU and its Member States to recognise the rights of women and girls to bodily integrity and autonomous decision-making. It condemned frequent violations of women’s sexual and reproductive rights, including the denial of access to comprehensive sexuality education, family planning services, contraceptives and maternal healthcare, as well as safe and legal abortion care. An adequate budget is requested for the above purposes. Full summary	2019/2850(RSP) Plenary: 24/06/2021

MeToo and harassment – the consequences for the EU institutions
According to estimates, one in three women have experienced physical or sexual violence during their adult lives. Up to 55 % of women have been sexually harassed in the EU with 32 % of all victims saying the perpetrator was a superior, colleague or customer. The progress in addressing the issue of sexual harassment after three years of the MeToo movement is not sufficient and there is still a lot to be done, within the EU institutions and beyond. The resolution called for the following measures: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • to make anti-harassment training available in all official languages or with interpretation and to target outreach activities at individual delegations and political groups • to create a public list of Members who have participated in these anti-harassment training sessions to be published on the website of the European Parliament as a good example for other Members • to improve awareness-raising and the introduction of compulsory training on Parliament’s zero-harassment policy for all people working in its premises • to aim to provide protection against victimisation of or retaliation against complainants, victims, witnesses and whistle-blowers; • to set up a task force of independent experts be set up with a mandate to examine the situation of sexual harassment and abuse in Parliament • to exchange best practices with other institutions in tackling harassment, including anti-harassment policies, guidelines or any new provisions on how to deal with it Full summary	2021/2986(RSP) Plenary: 16/12/2021

The EU priorities for the 67th session of the UN Commission on the Status of Women
189 countries across the world, including the European Union and its Member States, committed to working towards gender equality and empowering all women and girls at the Fourth World Conference on Women in Beijing in 1995. The 67th UN Commission on the Status of Women focuses on innovation and technological change and on education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls. The gender dimension of the digital transformation is acknowledged in the EU's Gender Equality Strategy for 2020–2025 and the Gender Action Plan III. Promoting women's equal access to the untapped potential of digital technologies is central to the EU's digital strategy and to sustainable growth. The resolution stressed that women still face structural and cultural barriers when participating in all aspects of the digital transition, which can have a detrimental effect on their access to and position in the labour market. According to Parliament, only a gender-responsive digital transformation can provide the necessary opportunities for changing negative gendered patterns of employment. Among the main recommendations addressed to the Council, Parliament highlighted the need to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • ensure the full involvement of Parliament and its Committee on Women's Rights and Gender Equality in the decision-making process on the EU's position at the 67th session of the UN Commission on the Status of Women and to ensure that Parliament has adequate information and access to the EU position document ahead of the negotiations • condemn in the strongest terms the use of rape and sexual violence as a weapon of war in armed conflicts, specifically their ongoing use in the unjustified attack on Ukraine by Russia, as well as other conflicts such as in the Tigray region in Ethiopia Full summary	2022/2839(RSP) Plenary: 15/02/2023

Proposal for a directive on improving the gender balance among non-executive directors of companies listed on stock exchanges and related measures (COM(2012)0614)
In the question, FEMM and JURI asked what is the state of play in the Council regarding the abovementioned proposal, including the most recent positions of the Member States? What are the main reasons preventing the reticent Member States from changing their positions? What action does the German Presidency envisage to unblock the file in Council and promote the adoption of a common position?	Jointly with JURI O-000050/2020 Plenary: 25/03/2021

Opinions adopted

During the past five years, the FEMM Committee also adopted a large number of legislative and non-legislative opinions. Many of these files fell under the remit of other committees, in particular the LIBE, DEVE and EMPL committees, as well as BUDG and CONT.

legislation and other aspects related to promoting gender equality, work-life balance and career opportunities.
Virtual mission to Reykjavík Global Forum – Women Leaders	9-10/11/2021
The Reykjavík Global Forum (the Forum) is a gathering and networking event where women leaders discuss and share ideas and solutions on how to further advance society. The European Parliament was invited to send a delegation of two women MEPs and submit a 2-minute “National Delegation Statement” on the theme of “Pathways to build a more equitable future”.
Mission to The Hague, The Netherlands	23-25/05/2022
The mission provided Members with practical experience of the Netherlands with regard to preventing and combatting trafficking in human beings. European and international levels dimension with the missions and means deployed by European agencies and the International Criminal Court were explored as well, especially with the situation of new risks and needs for women and children fleeing Ukraine in terms of location, identification, prevention and protection.
Ad-hoc delegation to Ethiopia	20-22/09/2022
This mission was extremely timely as it took place just a few weeks after the resumption of hostilities in the Tigray region. Due to this specific context, the objective of the programme was broadened to cover the dramatic situation faced by women and girls in the conflict zone, where sexual abuses have been widely reported. The other objectives of the mission were to engage with key stakeholders on the issue of female genital mutilation and on policies put in place to fight gender-based violence and to promote gender equality and women empowerment in Ethiopia and on the African continent.
Mission to Warsaw, Poland	02-04/11/2022
The mission provided Members with practical and detailed information about the experience of women and girls in Poland in terms of sexual and reproductive health and rights, also in the context of the refugees fleeing the war against Ukraine - the latter being mainly women and children (90%), especially at risk.
Mission to Madrid, Spain	20-22/02/2022
Members of the Delegation participated in numerous meetings focused on the developments in gender equality policies: cases on sexual consent law, care and dependence law and the fight against trafficking and sexual exploitation.
Mission to Copenhagen, Denmark	15-17/05/2023
The mission provided the Members with information on the developments in women's entrepreneurship policies in Denmark. It emphasized the importance of a change at all levels to promote women's entrepreneurship and create an ecosystem that welcomes and inspires women entrepreneurs, benefiting society through innovation, job creation, and exports.

Ad-hoc delegation to Bogotá, Colombia	19-23/06/2023
The mission was dedicated to the success stories countering the backlash against women's rights and the progress made in the implementation of the gender perspective of the 2016 Peace Agreement between the Colombian government and the Fuerzas Armadas Revolucionarias de Colombia (FARC), the world's first agreement to have a gender perspective at its core. The mission was also focused on the proposals of the government regarding the right to abortion, which had been de-penalised in February 2022 by a Constitutional Court decision which made Colombia the country with one of the most progressive legal frameworks in Latin America and worldwide.

Meetings with National Parliaments

The FEMM committee engages with direct dialogue with national parliaments at committee level, most notably (but not limited to) hosting the Inter-parliamentary Committee Meetings (ICMs) on the occasion of International Women's Day. These meetings bring together MPs and MEPs from corresponding committees, to discuss matters of common concern.

International Women's Day 2021 - We are strong: Women leading the fight against Covid-19 60 MPs from 26 national Parliaments and Norway recognised the valuable work of women (representing almost 80% of the healthcare staff, social assistance and childcare workers) in the frontline fighting against the pandemic. However, women remain less paid than men and their work considered less valuable. Furthermore, domestic violence increased during the lockdowns.	04/03/2021
Eliminating Violence against Women Four sessions explored the state of affairs in policy and practice in focused areas of gender-based violence: sexual violence as a weapon of war; preventing and combating violence against women and girls with disabilities; cyberviolence; the Istanbul Convention.	30/11/2021
International Women's Day 2022 - An ambitious future for Europe's women after COVID-19: mental load, gender equality in teleworking and unpaid care work after the pandemic This IWD took place the after the 2022 Russian invasion of Ukraine, and the programme was amended to address that, with the participation of the Chair of the Verkhovna Rada's Committee on EU integration, Klympush-Tsintsadze. The IWD exchanged experiences and best practices in advancing women's empowerment during crises.	03/03/2022
The rights of Ukrainian women fleeing the war The ICM consisted of two panels: Panel I under the title "Situation of Ukrainian women refugees with regard to reception conditions, protection measures and safety risks" jointly organised by FEMM and LIBE committees, and Panel II under the title "Ukrainian women fleeing the war: Access to social protection and the labour market, housing, childcare facilities and education" jointly organised by FEMM and EMPL committees.	12/07/2022
Gender Mainstreaming The purpose of the event was to exchange views on matters related to gender equality in the context of parliamentary life, with a special emphasis on gender mainstreaming in Parliaments. There were two main topics chosen for this event: "Anti-harassment protocols, their implementation and sanctions" and "Gender Action Plans".	08/12/2022
International Women's Day 2023 - Gender aspects of Energy poverty The IWD focussed on the explosion of energy poverty particularly affecting single mothers and single women. It explored ways and means in which gender equality considerations can be integrated into policies and initiatives at the EU, national, and local levels.	01/03/2023

International Women's Day 2024 - Women in Sport

07/03/2024

The IWD focussed on "Women in sport", who are fighting to ensure that their achievements are recognised equally to their male counterparts, breaking down stereotypes in certain sports that are typically seen as a man's world. Reports on abuse scandals affecting women in sports in a variety of fields are well known, as well as the fight of women for equal financial rewards and status. The ICM explored how women in sport have gained ground, yet still face specific hurdles, and discuss the way forward.

Gender Mainstreaming

According to Parliament's Rules of Procedure, FEMM Committee is responsible for the implementation and further development of gender mainstreaming in all policy sectors. Gender mainstreaming is firmly established in Article 8 of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union: "In all its activities, the Union shall aim to eliminate inequalities, and to promote equality, between men and women."

As a monitoring tool, the FEMM committee draws up a regular report on gender mainstreaming in the work of the European Parliament. A standing FEMM rapporteur for gender mainstreaming in the European Parliament has been in place since 2016, and has also been involved in the work of the High-Level Group on Gender Equality and Diversity. In the legislative term 2019-2024, there were two FEMM standing rapporteurs for gender mainstreaming, Ms Irène TOLLERET (Renew) and Ms Gwendoline DELBOS-CORFIELD (Greens/EFA).

Gender Mainstreaming Network

In accordance with Parliament's resolution of 13 March 2003 on gender mainstreaming in the European Parliament, each parliamentary committee appoints one of its Members as the Member responsible for gender mainstreaming. Since 2009, these designated Members have also formed part of the Gender Mainstreaming Network and during the 8th legislative term, the delegations have appointed their own Members responsible for gender mainstreaming, who have also taken part in the activities of the network.

The Gender Mainstreaming Network meets regularly, around 2–3 times per year. It is chaired by the FEMM Chair and supported by the FEMM secretariat. It is a forum for exchanging information on ongoing files of interest from a gender equality perspective and for sharing best practices.

During the 9th parliamentary term, the Gender Mainstreaming Network met 11 times.

Gender Action Plans

Parliament's Rules of Procedure foresees that: "The Bureau shall adopt a gender action plan aimed at incorporating a gender perspective in all Parliament's activities, at all levels and all stages. The gender action plan shall be monitored bi-annually and reviewed at least every five years."

In addition to that, almost all European Parliament Committees and Subcommittees have prepared their Gender Action Plans. Nine of them monitored the implementation of these Gender Actions Plans.

Gender Equality Week

In spring of 2020, the FEMM Committee decided to invite the committees of the European Parliament to hold for the first time European Gender Equality Week in October 2020 (during week 44).

2020 was a special year, marking the 25th anniversary of the Beijing Declaration and Platform for Action. This important milestone provided an excellent opportunity to discuss the achievements and future challenges for the advancement of girls' and women's rights and gender equality.

During the 4 days of the first European Gender Equality Week in 2020, 12 Committees were involved, and 13 events were organised. EIGE also joined with the launch of Gender Equality Index 2020 through the online conference. One more Committee and two Parliamentary delegation organised events later, but lined them to the GEW.

The FEMM committee organised the second edition of the Gender Equality Week in October 2021, in which all parliamentary committees and delegations were invited to hold events addressing gender equality in their areas of competence. In the 2021 edition, 16 committees and 6 delegations participated, and 21 events were organised. As part of this Week, FEMM also organised a side event for the Conference on the Future of Europe: "Building an inclusive economy for women in the green and digital transformation".

The third European Gender Equality Week took place on 24–30 October 2022. This year 16 committees and 2 delegations were involved, and 17 events were organised.

The fourth Gender Equality Week took place on 23-27 October 2023. The overarching topic of this year's GEW was "what's next" – looking at what we have achieved so far, as well as also looking at what else needs to be done. This year the FEMM Chair also sent a letter to the national parliaments informing about the initiative and inviting them to join the initiative (some national parliaments responded positively). 17 committees and 4 delegations were involved and 27 events (25 during the Week and 2 subsequent events in November) were organised by the Parliament in this edition.

Each year the European Gender Equality Week is getting better and bigger. The evidence of that is that in the Bureau meeting of 10 July, the President proposed to turn this initiative into a standing annual event of the European Parliament and to ask the Secretary-General to set up an administrative Task Force to support its organisation. Through the years, the European Gender Equality Week became also an all-inclusive Parliament's initiative. In addition to committees and delegations, individual MEPs held events, as well as political groups and almost all DGs of the Parliament contributed to this initiative either by organising events or facilitating them with various services. A big number of external stakeholders also joined this initiative.
