Amendment 892

Monika Hohlmeier

Proposal for a regulation

Article 6 – paragraph 1 – point f a (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

(fa) the processing of data to the extent strictly necessary for the purposes of ensuring network and information security, i.e. the ability of a network or an information system to resist, at a given level of confidence, accidental events or unlawful or malicious actions that compromise the availability, authenticity, integrity and confidentiality of stored or transmitted data, and the security of the related services offered by, or accessible via, these networks and systems;

Justification

Information security needs processing of some information in order to protect the personal data. According to the definition all data should be considered personal, it is necessary to classify information security as a legitimate interest that justifies processing of some data and applies horizontally across the Regulation. Information security is one of the cornerstones of the obligations of the data controller (Articles 30, 31) and is recognized also as a legitimate interest in recital 39.

Amendment 903
Jan Philipp Albrecht

Proposal for a regulation
Article 6 – paragraph 1 a (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

1a. If none of the legal grounds for the processing of personal data referred to in paragraph 1 apply, processing of personal data shall be lawful if and to the extent that it is necessary for the purposes of the legitimate interests pursued by the controller, except where such interests are overridden by the interests or fundamental rights and freedoms of the data subject which require the protection of personal data. The data controller shall in that case inform the data subject about the data processing explicitly and separately in accordance with Article 14(1). The controller shall also publish the reasons for believing that its interests override the interests or fundamental rights and freedoms of the data subject. This paragraph shall not apply to processing carried out by public authorities in the performance of their tasks.

Or. en

Justification

Replaces AM 100 from the rapporteur by clarifying that the information about data processing based on legitimate interest shall be done together with the general information to the data subject to avoid, for both the controller and the data subject, the burden of multiple, separate messages

Dimitrios Droutsas

Proposal for a regulation

Article 6 – paragraph 1 a (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

1a. Only if none of the legal grounds for the processing of personal data referred to in paragraph 1 apply, processing of personal data for specific purposes can be based on the legitimate interests of the controller. The data controller shall in that case inform the data subject about the data processing explicitly and separately. The controller shall publish the reasons for believing that its interests override the interests or fundamental rights and freedoms of the data subject. This paragraph shall not apply to processing carried out by public authorities in the performance of their tasks.

Or. en

Amendment 906
Josef Weidenholzer, Birgit Sippel

Proposal for a regulation
Article 6 – paragraph 1 a (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

1a. The predominant legitimate interests which are overriding the interests of data subjects as referred to in point (f) of paragraph 1 are generally:

(a) the protection of fundamental rights of the controller;

(b) the protection of fundamental rights of third parties, if the controller has a legal obligation to protect their rights;

(c) establishment, exercise or defence of legal rights;

(d) exercise of the freedom of expression within the limits of Article 80;

(e) historical, statistical or scientific research within the limits of Article 83.

Or. en

Justification

List of processing operations overriding the interests of data subjects under the current laws in Member States.

Amendment 907
Cornelia Ernst, Marie-Christine Vergiat

Proposal for a regulation
Article 6 – paragraph 1 a (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

1a. The legitimate interests of the controller as referred to in paragraph 1 point (f) may override the interests or fundamental rights and freedoms of the data subject, only if:

(a) processing of personal data takes place as part of the exercise of the right to freedom of expression, the media and the arts, within the limits of Union or national law;

(b) processing of personal data is necessary for and proportionate to the enforcement of the legal claims of the data controller or of third parties on behalf of whom the data controller is acting in relation to a specific identified data subject, or for preventing or limiting damage by the data subject to the controller, given that these legal claims are not manifestly unreasonable;

(c) processing of personal data takes place in the context of professional business-to-business relationships and the data were collected from the data subject for that purpose and the processing shall be limited to the business-to-business relationship in which the data were originally collected;

(d) processing of personal data is necessary for registered non-profit associations, foundations and charities, recognised as acting in the public interest under Union or national law, for the sole purpose of collecting donations.

Or. en

Amendment 908
Jan Philipp Albrecht

Proposal for a regulation
Article 6 – paragraph 1 b (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

1b. The legitimate interests of the controller as referred to in paragraph 1a override the interests or fundamental rights and freedoms of the data subject, as a rule and for example, if:

(a) processing of personal data takes place as part of the exercise of the right to freedom of expression, the media and the arts, within the limits of Union or national law;

(b) processing of personal data is necessary for the enforcement of the legal claims of the data controller or of third parties on behalf of whom the data controller is acting in relation to a specific identified data subject, or for preventing or limiting damage by the data subject to the controller;

(c) the data subject has provided personal data to the data controller on the legal ground referred to in point (b) of paragraph 1, and the personal data are used for direct marketing for its own and similar products and services and are not transferred, and the data controller is clearly identified to the data subject;

(d) processing of personal data takes place in the context of professional business-to-business relationships and the data were collected from the data subject for that purpose;

(e) processing of personal data is necessary for registered non-profit associations, foundations and charities, recognised as acting in the public interest under Union or national law, for the sole purpose of collecting donations.

Or. en

Justification

Replaces the introductory part of AM 101 by the rapporteur by clarifying that the list is not exhaustive through adding “for example”.

Amendment 909
Dimitrios Droutsas

Proposal for a regulation
Article 6 – paragraph 1 b (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

1b. The following interests of the controller are presumed to be legitimate:

(a) processing of personal data is necessary for the prevention or limitation of damages suffered by the controller, or, in exceptional cases, by a third party;

(b) the data subject has provided the personal data to the data controller on the legal ground referred to in point (b) of paragraph 1, the personal data are used for direct marketing for its own similar products and services and are not transferred, and the data controller is clearly identified towards the data subject.

Or. en

Amendment 910
Josef Weidenholzer, Birgit Sippel

Proposal for a regulation
Article 6 – paragraph 1 b (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

1b. Predominant legitimate interests which are overriding the interests of data subjects as referred to in point (f) of paragraph 1 are generally not:

(a) the assessment of creditworthiness;

(b) direct marketing;

(c) processing for the sole purpose of additional financial gain within a contractual relationship;

(d) processing that cannot be reasonably expected by the data subject or is significantly disadvantageous.

Or. en

Justification

Demonstrative list of processing operations which do not constitute "predominant legitimate interests" but may be allowed by other grounds (e.g. consent or contracts).

Amendment 911

Cornelia Ernst, Marie-Christine Vergiat

Proposal for a regulation

Article 6 – paragraph 1 b (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

1b. The interests or fundamental rights and freedoms of the data subject as referred to in paragraph 1 point (f) override the legitimate interest of the controller, as a rule, if:

(a) the processing may cause a serious risk of damage to the data subject;

(b) special categories of data as referred to in paragraph 1 of article 9, location data, or biometric data are processed;

(c) personal data are processed in the context of profiling;

(d) personal data is made accessible for a large number of persons or large amounts of personal data about the data subject are processed, aligned or combined with other data;

(e) the processing of personal data may adversely affect the data subject, in particular because it can lead to defamation or discrimination; or

(f) the data subject is a child.

Or. en

Amendment 912

Cornelia Ernst

Proposal for a regulation

Article 6 – paragraph 1 c (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

1c. Where the controller or his representative intends to process personal data on the basis of point f of Article 6(1) , he shall notify the supervisory authority referred to in Chapter VI before carrying out any such processing operation.

Or. en

Amendment 913

Jan Philipp Albrecht

Proposal for a regulation

Article 6 – paragraph 1 c (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

1c. The interests or fundamental rights and freedoms of the data subject as referred to in paragraph 1a override the legitimate interest of the controller, as a rule and for example, if:

(a) the processing causes a serious risk of damage to the data subject;

(b) special categories of data as referred to Article 9(1), location data, or biometric data are processed;

(c) the data subject can reasonably expect, on the basis of the context of the processing, that his or her personal data will only be processed for a specific purpose or treated confidentially, unless the data subject concerned has been informed specifically and separately about the use of his or her personal data for purposes other than the performance of the service;

(d) personal data are processed in the context of profiling;

(e) personal data is made accessible for a large number of persons or large amounts of personal data about the data subject are processed or combined with other data;

(f) the processing of personal data may adversely affect the data subject, in particular because it can lead to defamation or discrimination; or

(g) the data subject is a child.

Or. en

Justification

Replaces the introductory part of AM 102 by the rapporteur by clarifying that the list is not exhaustive through adding “for example”.

Amendment 914
Dimitrios Droutsas

Proposal for a regulation
Article 6 – paragraph 1 c (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

1c. Any legitimate interests pursued by the controller, must be balanced against the interests or fundamental rights and freedoms of the data subject. This fundamental rights and interests are presumed to override the legitimate interest of the controller, if:

(a) the processing causes a serious risk of damage to the data subject;

(b) the processing leads to a serious risk of infringement of any of the fundamental rights of the data subjects involved, as laid down in the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union;

(c) the processing involves location data or biometric data;

(d) the processing entails the processing of personal data that are the result of profiling of the data subject;

(e) there is a significant risk of processing of personal data without legal ground, in particular if personal data is made accessible for a large number of persons or if large amounts of personal data about the data subject are processed or combined with other data; or

(f) the data subject is a child.

Monika Hohlmeier, Axel Voss

Proposal for a regulation

Article 6 – paragraph 3 – subparagraph 1 a (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

These provisions may regulate details of the lawfulness of processing, particularly as regards data controllers, the purpose of processing and purpose limitation, the nature of the data and the data subjects, processing measures and procedures, recipients, and the duration of storage.

Or. de

Justification

Covers rules on the processing of personal data setting out specifically who is the controller, for what purpose, of what data on which data subjects, in what form the data is processed, to whom it is transmitted and how long it may be stored.

Amendment 932

Wim van de Camp

Proposal for a regulation

Article 6 – paragraph 3 – subparagraph 2

Text proposed by the Commission

The law of the Member State must meet an objective of public interest or must be necessary to protect the rights and freedoms of others, respect the essence of the right to the protection of personal data and be proportionate to the legitimate aim pursued.

Amendment

The international conventions, EU law or the law of the Member State must meet an objective of public interest or must be necessary to protect the rights and freedoms of others, respect the essence of the right to the protection of personal data and be proportionate to the legitimate aim pursued.

Amendment 934

Agustín Díaz de Mera García Consuegra, Teresa Jiménez-Becerril Barrio

Proposal for a regulation

Article 6 – paragraph 3 – subparagraph 2

Text proposed by the Commission

The law of the Member State must meet an objective of public interest or must be necessary to protect the rights and freedoms of others, respect the essence of the right to the protection of personal data and be proportionate to the legitimate aim pursued.

Amendment

Union law and the law of the Member State must meet an objective of public interest or must be necessary to protect the rights and freedoms of others, respect the essence of the right to the protection of personal data and be proportionate to the legitimate aim pursued.

Or. es

Justification

The last subparagraph of paragraph 3 contains a series of requirements which must be legally met by Members States' by establishing the legal bases for data processing, pursuant to points (c) and (e) of paragraph 1. We consider that these requirements, which are fairly straightforward, should be met with not only by Member States but also by the Union.

Amendment 935

Monika Hohlmeier

Proposal for a regulation

Article 6 – paragraph 3 – subparagraph 2

Text proposed by the Commission

The law of the Member State must meet an objective of public interest or must be necessary to protect the rights and freedoms of others, respect the essence of the right to the protection of personal data and be proportionate to the legitimate aim pursued.

Amendment

The laws of the Union and of the Member State must meet an objective of public interest or must be necessary to protect the rights and freedoms of others, respect the essence of fundamental rights and freedoms, in particular the right to the protection of personal data and be proportionate to the legitimate aim pursued.

Or. de

Justification

EU laws must also meet these requirements. In accordance with Article 1(2) they should respect the essence of fundamental rights and freedoms, in particular the right to the protection of personal data.

Amendment 936

Alexander Alvaro, Nadja Hirsch

Proposal for a regulation

Article 6 – paragraph 3 – subparagraph 2

Text proposed by the Commission

The law of the Member State must meet an objective of public interest or must be necessary to protect the rights and freedoms of others, respect the essence of the right to the protection of personal data and be proportionate to the legitimate aim pursued.

Amendment

In these provisions the lawfulness of the processing can be further specified, particularly in relation to the controller, to the purpose of the processing and the limitation of such purpose, to the nature of the data and to the data subjects, to the processing operations and the processing procedures, and to the recipients of personal data as well as to the duration of storage. The provisions of Union law and of the law of the Member State must be necessary to protect the rights and freedoms of others, must respect the essence of fundamental rights and fundamental freedoms, in particular of the right to the protection of personal data and be appropriate to the legitimate aim pursued by the processing.

legitimate interests, must meet an objective of public interest or must be necessary to protect the rights and freedoms of others, be proportionate to the legitimate aim pursued and necessary in a democratic society.

Or. en

Justification

Laws of the European Union should equally meet such minimal standards. The additional reference to what is necessary in a democratic society is introducing a well-established minimal standard. Suitable measures should be implemented in relation to non-sensitive data, as well as sensitive data, therefore this addition is moved from point (g) of Article 9(2).

Article 6 – paragraph 3 a (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

3a. In case of processing based on point (f) of paragraph 1, the controller shall inform the data subject about this explicitly as well as the data subject's right to object pursuant to Article 19(2).

Or. en

Currently no guidance in how such policies should be written in order to be a proper basis for an “informed” consent. 2a. If data is collected for processing after consent has been given solely by automated means in accordance with paragraph 2a and the pseudonyms are later unlawfully associated with other personal identifiers that do permit the direct identification of a data subject pursuant to Article 4(1), then this constitutes a personal data breach likely to adversely affect the protection of the privacy of the data subject. The breach notifications must be communicated in accordance with the procedures in Articles 31 and 32.

Or. en

Justification

It is possible to re-identify pseudonyms when the data subject interacts with a service by entering other personal data, or by e.g. opening an e-mail that contains an embedded image (web bug), whereby the email address is associated with already collected pseudonymous data. If consent has been acquired solely by automated means under the pseudonymous data alleviation of Article 7(2)(a) then this practice is unlawful and should constitute a personal data breach.

Proposal for a regulation

Article 7 – paragraph 4

Text proposed by the Commission

4. Consent shall not provide a legal basis for the processing, where there is a significant imbalance between the position of the data subject and the controller.

Amendment

4. Consent shall not provide a legal basis for the processing, where there is a significant imbalance between the position of the data subject and the controller.
There shall be no significant imbalance when the data are processed in the context of employment or contracts protecting against risk.

Amendment 992

Jan Philipp Albrecht

Proposal for a regulation

Article 7 – paragraph 4

Text proposed by the Commission

4. Consent shall not provide a legal basis for the processing, where there is a significant imbalance between the position of the data subject and the controller.

Amendment

4. As a rule, consent shall not provide a legal basis for the processing, where there is a significant imbalance between the position of the data subject and the controller.

Justification

Even in situations listed in the relevant Recital 34, such as employment relations, there can be situations where the data subject should be able to exercise its right to have personal data processed based on freely given explicit consent.

Amendment 993

Jacek Protasiewicz, Rafał Trzaskowski, Arkadiusz Tomasz Bratkowski

Proposal for a regulation
Article 7 – paragraph 4

Text proposed by the Commission

4. Consent shall not provide a legal basis for the processing, where there is a significant imbalance between the position of the data subject and the controller.

Amendment

4. Consent shall not provide a legal basis for the processing if, due to a significant imbalance between the position of the controller and the data subject, it has not been given freely, in accordance with Article 4(8).

Amendment 994

Sarah Ludford, Charles Tannock

Proposal for a regulation
Article 7 – paragraph 4

Text proposed by the Commission

4. Consent shall not provide a legal basis for the processing, where there is a significant imbalance between the position of the data subject and the controller.

Amendment

4. Consent shall not provide a legal basis for the processing, where there is a significant imbalance or coercive relationship between the position of the data subject and the controller. The patient-healthcare provider relationship is not considered a significantly imbalanced or coercive relationship.

Amendment 997
Cornelia Ernst

Proposal for a regulation
Article 7 – paragraph 4 a (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

4a. Consent loses its legal effect as a basis for processing as soon as the processing of personal data is no longer necessary for carrying out the purpose for which they were originally collected. Where the conclusion of the intended purpose can not be clearly determined, the controller shall at least once a year provide the data subject with the information pursuant to Article 14 and request a confirmation of the original consent from the data subject. If the data subject does not reply positively, the original consent should be considered to have lost its legal effect at the end of the second calendar year after the first processing.

Amendment 998
Claude Moraes, Glenis Willmott

Proposal for a regulation
Article 7 – paragraph 4 a (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

4a. For the purpose of scientific research activities (including public health, medical and social science) consent should comply with the relevant provisions in Directive 2001/20/EC.

Or. en

Justification

To ensure legal clarity on which framework applies in priority for consent in the context of clinical trials. Once the Clinical Trials Regulation comes into force, the relevant provisions (currently under Chapter 5) should be adhered to with regards to obtaining informed consent.

Amendment 999

Alexander Alvaro, Nadja Hirsch

Proposal for a regulation

Article 7 – paragraph 4 a (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

4a. The required form of consent shall reflect the principles laid down in Articles 5a, 5b and 5c as well as the result of the data protection risk analysis referred to in Article 33.

Or. en

Amendment 1000

Manfred Weber

Proposal for a regulation

Article 7 – paragraph 4 a (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

4a. Consent shall be purpose-limited and shall lose its validity when the purpose ceases to exist; consent shall also be invalid when the data subject gives his or her consent in a general and abstract way to unspecified and unpredictable forms of data processing.

Or. de

Justification

Seeks to ensure that data subjects are not forced into signing a ‘blank cheque’ giving their consent without time limit to an unspecified number of forms of data processing, which may include transmission to, and processing by, third parties.

Amendment 1001

Dimitrios Droutsas

Proposal for a regulation
Article 7 – paragraph 4 a (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

4a. The Commission shall be empowered to adopt, after requesting an opinion from the European Data Protection Board, delegated acts in accordance with Article 86 for the purpose of further specifying the requirements and conditions for technical standards referred to in paragraph 2a, and for declaring that a technical standard is in line with this Regulation and has general validity within the Union.

Or. en

Justification

Use of a service may not be dependent to the consent to unrestricted data processing.

Amendment 1004

Françoise Castex, Sylvie Guillaume

Proposal for a regulation

Article 7 a (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

Article 7a

Consent should only be obtainable for processing which is lawful and, therefore, not disproportionate to its purpose. Consent shall not constitute a valid legal basis when it is intended to enable the controller to scan the list of contacts of the person concerned for the purpose of collecting the personal data of third persons.

Or. fr

Justification

Many online services make use of consumers' lists of contacts. The rules stipulate that if the consumer whose list has been scanned has given his or her consent no breach has occurred. However, the consumer holds data about other consumers (email addresses, addresses, telephone numbers) and this data then finds its way into databases without the latter's consent.

Or. en

Justification

Certain services of the information society offered to children rely on the fact that children can use them without their parents' consent. This is for example the case with online-chats for victims of sexual abuse. Without a possible derogation for these cases, some counselling services targeting children seeking for help in situations where their parents or legal representative might be closely linked to the problem of the child would not be available any more. where the processing of personal data of a child concerns health data and where the Member State law in the field of health and social care prioritises the maturity and competence of an individual over physical age.

Or. en

Justification

In the context of health and social care authorisation from a child's parent or guardian should not be necessary where the child has the maturity and competence to make a decision for him or herself. In the UK a person of 12 years or more shall be presumed old enough and mature enough to exercise their right to decide who else can access their health records. In Child Protection Cases it is not always in the interests of the data subject for their parent or guardian to have access to their data, and this needs to be reflected in the legislation.

Or. de

Justification

The age of legal capacity in the EU is mostly 18. In exceptional cases the age of legal capacity /criminal responsibility is deemed to be 14 or 15 subject to certain conditions. Setting an age of 13 here seems arbitrary and inappropriate in the light of the need to protect children. Accordingly it seems more appropriate to raise the age limit to 15. Justification

Es conveniente introducir una referencia ampliatoria de manera que quede claro que este tipo de datos pueden procesarse cuando se trata de reconocer, ejercitar o defender un derecho en un procedimiento judicial o administrativo de cualquier clase. El motivo de ello es que no deberían ponerse obstáculos para el ejercicio o reconocimiento de los derechos por cauces legalmente establecidos y dotados de las garantías necesarias. Por otra parte, en algunas ocasiones nos podemos encontrar con límites difusos entre los procedimientos judiciales y administrativos, no tanto desde la perspectiva de la autoridad ante la cual se sustancian, sino desde la perspectiva de su verdadera naturaleza jurídica, debiendo por ello quedar ambos incluidos.

Justification

A public interest can also be expressed in international conventions, even in the absence of specific national or EU laws. Such conventions would still need to respect the essence of the right to the protection of personal data and be proportionate to the legitimate aim pursued. A complete register of criminal convictions shall be kept only under the control of official authority.

Amendment

(j) processing of data relating to criminal convictions or related security measures is carried out either under the control of official authority or when the processing is necessary for compliance with a legal or regulatory obligation to which a controller is subject, for the prevention or detection of fraud, or for the performance of a task carried out for important public interest reasons, and in so far as authorised by Union law or Member State law providing for adequate safeguards. A complete register of criminal convictions shall be kept only under the control of official authority.

Or. en

Justification

In order to prevent and detect insurance, payment and other forms of fraud, e.g. the financial services industry processes personal data and shares and cross-checks these with other financial services companies. This not only to prevent damage to the controller itself but also to protect other financial services companies and the financial services sector as a whole. The data processed may include data relating to criminal convictions and data which may lead to a criminal conviction, which will be covered by Article 9. Requesting consent for this processing is not an option.

A complete register of criminal convictions shall be kept only under the control of official authority.

Or. en

Justification

The amendment clarifies the wording by providing a supervised control for organisations that process criminal conviction data. Also the amendment clarifies that not every instance of processing carried out for legal or regulatory compliance reasons will be specifically required by law. In certain cases such processing will be undertaken as part of a risk management process designed to prevent a breach of the law. It must also be ensured that employers following collective agreements can receive information on (potential) employees criminal convictions. This is especially important for employees dealing with children.

Or. es

Justification

The content is excessive, as it empowers the Commission to develop aspects which are fundamental to this instrument, and does so in a field which is particularly sensitive because of the type of data covered by this regulation. The most appropriate course, therefore, would be to develop these aspects in the regulation proper.

Ewald Stadler

Proposal for a regulation

Article 10

Text proposed by the Commission

If the data processed by a controller do not permit the controller to identify a natural person, the controller shall not be obliged to acquire additional information in order to identify the data subject for the sole purpose of complying with any provision of this Regulation.

Amendment

1. The establishment of a common procedure for automated processing by several data controllers shall be permissible provided that this procedure is appropriate taking into account the legitimate interests of the data subjects and the duties or business purposes of the participating data controllers and each of these data controllers at least has full control over the processing of the data he or she has collected. Several data controllers may also have full control over all data in a joint automated processing procedure.

2. The data controllers shall ensure that the lawfulness of the joint procedure can be monitored. To that end they shall specify in writing:

(a) the reason and purpose for the joint automated data processing procedure;

(b) all participating data controllers and their purposes;

(c) third parties to whom data is transmitted;

(d) type of data;

(e) the technical and organisational measures and procedures required.

3. The data subject of a data processing procedure may assert his or her rights vis-à-vis each data controller. If that data controller does not have full control over the data, he or she shall be required to pass on the request of the data subject to the controller who collected the data. The data subject shall be informed about the transmission of his or her request to the data controller. The data subject's right to be informed shall extend to all data controllers and all purposes of the joint data processing procedure.

4. The data controllers shall be jointly and severally liable for the compliance of the whole automated data processing procedure with the data protection requirements of this regulation.

Article 11 a (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

Article 11a

Article 12 of Directive 2002/58/EC and Articles 20 and 21(3)(e) of Directive 2002/22/EC are an application of the data subjects' right to transparent information and communication which requires that the controller informs data subjects of their rights with respect to the use of their personal information and draws attention to the presence of systems which have been developed in accordance with the principles of privacy by design.

Or. en

Justification

Article 12 of the e-Privacy Directive and Articles 20 and 21 of the Universal Service Directive cover directory services, as part of the scope of universal services. The databases of directory service providers are required to be "comprehensive" and the inclusion of subscriber data is therefore important, as is the need for subscriber to be clearly informed of all their options, regardless of the model adopted by a Member State (opt-in, opt-out or hybrid).

What matters is that information is obtainable and rights can be exercised. If this is to happen, it might be the case that some institutions, given their size or complexity, will need to lay down clearly defined procedures to enable data subjects to exercise the rights in question, whereas other smaller or simpler organisations will not have to have any procedures in the strict sense or at most will need to issue very brief instructions telling data subjects what to do.

Proposal for a regulation

Article 12 – paragraph 2

Text proposed by the Commission

2. The controller shall inform the data subject without delay and, at the latest within one month of receipt of the request, whether or not any action has been taken pursuant to Article 13 and Articles 15 to 19 and shall provide the requested information. This period may be prolonged for a further month, if several data subjects exercise their rights and their cooperation is necessary to a reasonable extent to prevent an unnecessary and disproportionate effort on the part of the controller. The information shall be given in writing. Where the data subject makes the request in electronic form, the information shall be provided in electronic form, unless otherwise requested by the data subject.

Amendment

2. The controller shall inform the data subject without delay and, at the latest within one month of receipt of the request, whether or not any action has been taken pursuant to Article 13 and Articles 15 to 19 and shall provide the requested information. This period may be prolonged for a further month, if several data subjects exercise their rights and their cooperation is necessary to a reasonable extent to prevent an unnecessary and disproportionate effort on the part of the controller. The information shall be given in writing. Where the data subject makes the request in electronic form, the information may be provided in electronic form, unless otherwise requested by the data subject or unless the controller has reason to believe that providing the information in electronic form would create a significant risk of fraud.

Or. en

Justification

Releasing certain data in electronic form such as credit files could result in modification or identity theft when provided to consumers. Release of data should be dependent upon authentication checks which satisfy criteria set out by the agency holding the data to prevent interception, misuse, fraudulent use or modification.

Proposal for a regulation

Article 12 – paragraph 4 a (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

4a. The following shall apply to requests under Article 15:

(a) the controller may charge a fee for providing the relevant information. Such a fee shall not be excessive;

(b) no obligation to provide the relevant information shall apply until the controller has received the following;

(i) any fee required in accordance with (a) above; and

(ii) any information as to the identity of the person making a request as the controller may reasonably require.

(c) where a data controller has previously complied with a request by an individual, the data controller is not obliged to comply with a subsequent identical or similar request under that section by that individual unless a reasonable interval has elapsed between compliance with the previous request and the making of the current request;

(d) the controller must have regard to any guidance issued under Article 38 in deciding:

(i) whether a subsequent request is identical or similar to a previous request;

(ii) whether a reasonable interval has elapsed between compliance with the previous request and the making of the current request.

Or. en

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

Article 13a

Standardized information policies

1. Where at least one of the risk factors referred to under Article 5b(1) to (10) exists and where personal data relating to a data subject are collected, the controller shall provide the data subject with the following particulars before providing information pursuant to Article 14:

(a) whether personal data are collected beyond the minimum necessary for each specific purpose of the processing;

(b) whether personal data are retained beyond the minimum necessary for each specific purpose of the processing;

(c) whether personal data are processed for purposes other than the purposes for which they were collected;

(d) whether personal data are disseminated to non-public third parties for purposes other than the purposes for which they were collected;

(e) whether personal data are sold;

(f) whether personal data are retained in encrypted form.

2. The particulars referred to in paragraph 1 shall be presented pursuant to Annex X in an aligned tabular format, using text and symbols, in the following three columns:

(a) the first column depicts graphical forms symbolising those particulars;

(b) the second column contains essential information describing those particulars;

(c) the third column depicts graphical forms indicating whether a specific particular is met.

3. The information referred to in paragraphs 1 and 2 shall be presented in an easily visible and clearly legible way and shall appear in a language easily understood by the consumers of the Member States to whom the information is provided. Where the particulars are presented electronically, they shall be machine readable.

4. Additional particulars shall not be provided. Detailed explanations or further remarks regarding the particulars referred to in paragraph 1 may be provided together with the other information requirements pursuant to

Article 14.

5. The Commission shall be empowered to adopt delegated acts in accordance with Article 86 for the purpose of further specifying the particulars referred to in paragraph 1 and their presentation as referred to in paragraph 2 and in Annex X.

Or. en

Justification

Data subjects have to be informed about the data processing operations employed by the entity they are interacting with without being overwhelmed by the sheer amount of information they are provided with. In order to allow a quicker understanding and better comparability of data protection policies, when providing information to the data subject, controllers shall disclose short icon based information policies before laying down in detail their information policies.

Amendment

1. Where none of the risk factors referred to under Article 5b(1) to (10) exist and where personal data relating to a data subject are collected, the controller shall provide the data subject, on request, with the following information.

Where at least two of the risk factors referred to under Article 5b(1) to (10) exist and where personal data relating to a data subject are collected, the controller shall provide the data subject with at least the following information.

Or. en

Justification

Article is amended in accordance with respect to context and risk principles pursuant to Articles 5a (new) and 5b (new).

Amendment 1175

Stanimir Ilchev

Proposal for a regulation

Article 14 – paragraph 1 – introductory part

Text proposed by the Commission

1. Where personal data relating to a data subject are collected, the controller shall provide the data subject with at least the following information:

Amendment

1. The controller directly responsible for the operation and, if applicable, his representative, shall at least document the following:

Or. de

Justification

Articles 14 and 28 are combined, imposing different obligations on the different data controllers. The obligations to provide information and documentation should be largely identical so as to make it easier for the data controller to meet his obligations.

Proposal for a regulation

Article 14 – paragraph 1 a (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

1a. Where personal data relating to a data subject is collected from the data subject, the controller shall at the time when personal data are obtained, provide the data subject with the following information:

(a) the identity and the contract details of the controller and, if any, of the controller's representative and of the data protection officer;

(b) the purpose of the processing for which the personal data are intended, including the contract terms and general conditions.

Further information shall be provided at the request of the data subject, which would include the following information:

(a) the period for which the personal data will be stored;

(b) the existence of the right to request from the controller access to and rectification or erasure of the personal data concerning the data subject or to object to the processing of such personal data;

(c) the right to lodge a complaint to the supervisory authority and the contact details of the supervisory authority;

(d) the recipients or categories of recipients of the personal data;

(e) where applicable, that the controller intends to transfer to a third country or international organisation and on the level of protection afforded by that third country or international organisation by reference to an adequacy decision by the Commission;

(f) any further information necessary to guarantee fair processing in respect of the data subject, having regard to the specific circumstances in which the personal data are collected.

Or. en

Justification

This should be a two step process.

Proposal for a regulation
Article 14 – paragraph 1 – point a

Text proposed by the Commission

(a) the identity and the contact details of the controller and, if any, of the controller's representative and of the data protection officer;

Amendment

(a) the identity and the contact details of the controller and, if any, of the controller's representative and the contact details of the data protection officer;

Or. fr

Justification

The requirement to provide information concerning the identity of the data protection officer (DPO) should be replaced by a requirement to provide standard information in the form of the DPO's contact details, in order to guarantee his or her independence and forestall any need for updating should the DPO change.
