Proposal for a regulation

Recital 1

Text proposed by the Commission

(1) Directive 2001/95/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 3 December 2001 on general product safety<sup>13</sup> lays down the requirement that consumer products must be safe and that Member States' market surveillance authorities must take action against dangerous products as well as exchange information to that effect through the Community rapid information exchange system RAPEX. Directive 2001/95/EC needs to be fundamentally revised to improve its functioning and to ensure consistency with developments in Union legislation as regards market surveillance, obligations of economic operators and standardisation. In the interest of clarity, Directive 2001/95/EC should be repealed and replaced by this Regulation.

(3) This Regulation must contribute to the attainment of the objectives referred to in Article 169 of the TFEU. ### Proposal for a regulation Recital 3 b (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

(3b) The safety of consumers depends to a great extent on the active enforcement of Union product safety requirements. Market surveillance activities at national and Union level should be improved on an on-going basis and should be increasingly effective in order to meet the ever-changing challenges of a global market and a progressively complex supply chain. Failing market surveillance systems could generate a distortion of competition, jeopardise consumer safety and undermine citizens' trust in the internal market. The Member States should, therefore, establish systematic approaches to ensure the increasing effectiveness of market surveillance and other enforcement activities and should ensure their openness to the public and interested parties.

(21) The indication of origin is a necessary supplement to the basic traceability requirements laid down in this Regulation concerning the name and address of the manufacturer. Furthermore, the indication of the country of origin helps to identify the actual place of manufacture in all those cases where the manufacturer cannot be contacted, in particular where its given address is different from the actual place of manufacture, where the name and address of the manufacturer is missing altogether or where the address was on the packaging that has been lost. Such information can facilitate the task of market surveillance authorities in tracing the product back to the actual place of manufacture and enable contacts with the authorities of the countries of origin in the framework of bilateral or multilateral cooperation on consumer product safety for appropriate follow up actions.

Amendment 31

Proposal for a regulation Recital 21 a (new)

Amendment

(21a) The indication of origin of the product would make it easier for consumers to access information about the product chain, thereby increasing their level of awareness. In particular, when indicating the name of the manufacturer fulfilling the obligations of the economic operators, there is a risk of misleading the consumers since an indication of the manufacturer does not necessarily enable the consumer to establish what the country of production is. Thus, the indication of origin should be the sole means by which the consumers would be able to establish the country of production of a product.
