NOTA SPJEGATTIVA

The purpose of this Commission proposal is to adapt Regulation 1172/98 on statistical returns in respect of the carriage of goods by road to introduce the new regulatory procedure with scrutiny (RPS), as provided for in Article 5a of Decision 1999/468/EC as amended. This is done in the form of a legislative amendment.

In fact, the Commission proposes to introduce RPS for two cases:

- Article 3(4) for data collection characteristics and contents of the Annexes;
- Article 4 for the precision requirements for the methods for the collection and processing of data.

Your Rapporteur agrees with these proposals, as they concern measures of general scope designed to amend non-essential elements of the Regulation in question or to supplement it by the addition of new non-essential elements, which is the criterion for the application of RPS.

The Commission proposes to keep the management procedure for two other cases:

- Article 5(2) Arrangements for transmitting data, including where appropriate the statistical tables based on those data;
- Article 6 Provisions on the dissemination of statistical results, including the structure and content of these results.

Your Rapporteur agrees with these proposals as well, as these measures are more of an administrative and technical nature, and therefore do not really supplement the basic act by adding new non-essential elements.

Finally, the Commission repeats these modifications by introducing them also in Article 9. In fact, Article 9 itself seems to be a repetition of what is stated in the above mentioned articles, although a somewhat different wording is used, in particular in the opening sentence, which speaks in more general terms of "the procedures for implementing this Regulation, including the measures for adapting it to economic and technical progress". Your Rapporteur considers this confusing or even redundant and therefore proposes to delete Article 9. If the Council and/or the Commission consider Article 9 in this form nevertheless necessary, it would be more logical to apply RPS for all measures listed in its indents. Articles 5(2) and 6 would then have to be modified accordingly.
