Motion for a resolution
Paragraph 9 b (new)

9b. Welcomes the new mechanism for the protection of entrepreneurs applied in some Member States, such as Italy, to protect those who have matured debts with banks but also have claims against the public authorities, as this prevents the distraint of entrepreneurs’ homes; notes that this system protects entrepreneurs from unjustified attack, as they now retain a debtor position which can be remedied by public authorities honouring their debts; urges the other Member States to put in place similar measures aimed at preventing the expropriation of homes and protecting the private life and dignity of individuals;
