Motion for a resolution
Paragraph 82

82. Welcomes the signing of the Strategic Military and Defence Cooperation Agreement between Greece and France as a positive step towards European strategic autonomy and the creation of a true and functioning European Defence Union; calls for enhanced cooperation with partner countries in the Mediterranean to combat extremism, terrorism, the illicit trade in weapons and human trafficking;

Amendment

82. Welcomes the signing of the Strategic Military and Defence Cooperation Agreement between Greece and France as a positive step; underlines that common defence projects have always been founded on transnational cooperation; rejects any drift towards federalism in this area, as envisaged by the Commission; calls for enhanced cooperation with partner countries in the Mediterranean to combat extremism, terrorism, the illicit trade in weapons and human trafficking;

Paragraph 91

Motion for a resolution
Paragraph 91

91. Recalls the role played by the High Representative of the Union for Foreign Affairs and Security Policy; calls on the Member States to assess a reform of the decision-making process, in particular Article 31 TEU, extending qualified majority voting (QMV) to EU foreign and security policy in areas relating to CSDP, as well as exploring the full use of ‘passerelle clauses’ and the scope of articles that enhance the EU’s solidarity and mutual assistance in the event of crises;

Amendment
91. Recalls that the Treaties provide for the possibility to improve decision-making procedures; stresses, however, that in order to preserve the sovereignty of Member States, unanimity must remain the decision-making benchmark in the Council when it comes to foreign and security policy; considers that the national interests of Member States are vastly different in light of geopolitical realities and that these interests can only be preserved through unanimity, as any form of majority voting risks ignoring and undermining vital national interests;
